Censor In Britain Bans JFK Sketch

LONDON (AP) — Britain's chief censor has ordered five sketches about President John F. Kennedy and his family cut from an American revue opening here next week.

But last night the cast of "The Premise" reported they had appealed to Kennedy and the White House had cabled it had no objection to the sketches.

The Lord Chamberlain, the Earl of Scarborough, banned the sketches under a regulation that forbids portrayal of a head of state on the London stage.

A sixth sketch about God also was ordered cut.

CAROLYN KENNEDY
Who runs things?

"The revue ran successfully in New York with all the six sketches intact," author Theodore Fricker said. "I can't understand why references to the president should be allowed in his own country but not here."

"The Premise" is scheduled to open at the Comedy Theater July 23.

The Kennedy sketches include one about the "President's Dynasty" and another showing little daughter Caroline as the brains behind the American government.

Said leading lady Joan Darling:

"I hope the Lord Chamerlain will realize that whatever we did must be in good taste if the Kennedys approve. I guess the British law should approve good taste. The present situation is ridiculous."

U.S. Product Pegged At $552 Billion

Second Quarter Figure Below Kennedy Goal

WASHINGTON (AP)—The nation's Gross National Product reached an annual rate of 552 billion dollars in the second quarter of this year, President John F. Kennedy's Council of Economic Advisers reported today.

The second quarter figure was seven billion dollars higher than the 545-billion-dollar annual rate for the first quarter, but nevertheless fell well below the administration's hopes.

It could have an important bearing on whether Kennedy asks for a tax cut this year to spur the economy.

Kennedy predicted in January the GNP for 1962 would jump to a 570-billion-dollar rate for the full year compared with 518.7 billion dollars in 1961.

To have any chance to reach this figure, the second quarter rate should have been in the 560-570-billion-dollar range.

The GNP, which measures the output of all goods and services, is one of the key economic indicators closely watched by all government and business economists.

Air Crash Fatal To 26 In Thailand

BANGKOK, Thailand (AP)—A United Arab Airlines jet with 26 persons aboard crashed into a jungle-covered mountain in central Thailand last night and an American military search party reported its first check today indicated there were no survivors.

Three of the 18 passengers aboard the British-built Comet IV were Americans—Mrs. Virginia Gilbertson of Bradford Woods, Pittsburgh, Pa., her daughter Christine and her son Eric.

The American family was en route to the United States from Tokyo, where Mrs. Gilbertson's husband, Dennis, represents the Blaw-Knox Steel Co. of Pittsburgh. They had booked passage on the plane at the last minute when their flight with another airline was canceled.

Gilbertson accompanied his family to Hong Kong and had planned to return to Tokyo today. Friends in Hong Kong said he would leave for Bangkok tonight.

Three Asian newsmen were reported aboard the crashed Comet, on their way to Cairo as guests of the United Arab Republic government. Several other Tokyo and Hong Kong newsmen who were scheduled to make the trip to Cairo postponed their departure at the last minute.

The jetliner flight originated in Tokyo with Cairo the final destination after stopovers in Hong Kong, Bangkok, Bombay and Kuwait.

The pilot of the jetliner radioed Bangkok's airport he was preparing to land when he was 20 minutes away. That was the last word from the plane. The weather was relatively clear at the time.

A U.S. Army helicopter sighted the wreckage on the side of a 4,590-foot peak in the Khao Yai range about 50 miles northeast of Bangkok and landed near the crash site.

American search planes and helicopters were sent out from the big Thai military center at Korat, headquarters of the U.S. task force stationed in Thailand.

Norstad Resigns Post In Europe

He Served NATO For 12 Years

WASHINGTON (AP) — President John F. Kennedy accepted today the resignation of Gen. Lauris Norstad as supreme Allied commander in Europe and chief of NATO forces.

The White House had nothing to say immediately as to a successor.

Reports were circulating that Gen. Lyman L. Lemnitzer, chairman of the U.S. joint chiefs of staff, might replace Norstad. But there also was talk of Gen. Maxwell D. Taylor, now presidential military adviser.

GEN. LAURIS NORSTAD
36 years of service

Norstad, 55, has held the allied position with headquarters in Paris since 1956. He is known as a strong advocate of increasing unity among the Western European Allies and between them and the United States.

Word that the general has submitted his resignation came first from the newspaper Le Monde in Paris.

Norstad said in a letter to Kennedy:

"We live in a time of continuing crisis, but for the moment, at least, there is no unusual pressure on my office. I request therefor that I be relieved of my assignment . . . on or about 1 Nov. 1962."

The chief executive replied in a "Dear Larry" letter, voicing deep regret at Norstad's decision to step out of uniform after 36 years and also lavishing high praise on a man he said has had a military assign-

Rocket Is 'Cocked' For Venus Blastoff

CAPE CANAVERAL (UPI)—A Giant space rocket was "cocked" today for America's first shot at the planet Venus. Blastoff time was set for early tomorrow morning.

The goal will be to send a complex probe named Mariner-1 closer than any other man-made object has ever come to one of earth's planetary neighbors.

The probe, first of two the United States plans to shoot toward Venus within the next two months, was tucked inside the nose of a 10-story Atlas-Agenda rocket on a launching pad here.

Scientists today put both the rocket and Mariner-1 through a final list of checks to prepare them for the fantastically complex voyage, which will involve crossing nearly 225 million miles of space in 140 days.

If all goes as scientists hope, the 446-pound robot explorer will swing within 10,000 miles of Venus, and then into a giant eliptical orbit around the sun.

$4.7 Million Foreign Aid Bill Passes

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Senate today approved a compromise 4.7-million-dollar foreign aid authorization bill after last minute grumblings about aid to Communist countries.

At the same time, senators were assured that the administration intends to hold aid to India to the past year's level even though a provision on this was stricken from the measure.

Passed by a vote of 56 to 27, the bill would permit President John F. Kennedy to extend aid to Red Yugoslavia and Poland if he thought it in the national security.

The Senate originally had voted to ban such aid altogether but this was softened by the House and adopted in a Senate-House conference.

Court To Hear Soblen Appeal

LONDON (UPI) — The court of appeal agreed today to hear convicted Soviet spy Dr. Robert A. Soblen's appeal next Thursday against his detention here.

A three-judge panel of the Queen's bench division of the high Court turned down Soblen's plea last Wednesday to be released from Brixton Prison on a writ of habeas corpus and set free in Britain.

Soblen filed an appeal against that ruling yesterday, continuing his last-ditch fight to escape return to the United States and a life term in prison for espionage. He was convicted of spying for the Soviet Union.

Ambulance Fatal

PITTSBURG (AP)—The Highway Patrol reports that ambulance attendant Eugene Azevedo, 48, Antioch, was killed when a driverless moving van overturned on top of the ambulance last night. Four persons were seriously injured including the patient.

Pressure For Estes From Top Suggested

WASHINGTON (UPI) — An ousted federal farm official suggested today that the late Henry H. Marshall may have rescinded his crackdown on Billie Sol Estes' cotton allotment transfers because of pressure from superiors.

William P. Mattox, who described Marshall as a "good friend," also suggested as an alternative that Marshall may have believed amended regulations ultimately would bring justice to farmers who made illegal transfer to Estes.

Mattox testified for the second day at the Senate investigation of Estes' operations.

GUNSHOT DEATH

Marshall, program specialist for the Texas Agriculture Stabilization and Conservation committee, died from gunshot wounds in June, 1961. His death originally was ruled a suicide but the Texas Rangers announced yesterday that they are investigating on the assumption it was murder.

In Austin, Tex., Texas Ranger Capt. Clint Peoples said today that the book will never be closed on the Marshall case until his murderer is found.

MURDER EVIDENCE

Texas Ranger Chief Homer Garrison Jr., who also is director of the department of the public safety, said there is conclusive evidence Marshall was murdered.

Peoples, who dug up the evidence that led to the conclusion of murder, said "I feel like one of these days we will come up with something. We will never close the book on it (the case)."

The Rangers are seeking a man whom they believe may have information about the death. The man is not a suspect. A composite description of the man has been broadcast throughout the nation.

"We are receiving numerous calls and checking out all leads," Peoples said. "We trust something will develop."

Hague Court Rules On U.N. Peace Costs

THE HAGUE (AP)—The International Court of Justice advised the United Nations today that all its members should pay for U.N. peace-keeping operations.

By a 9-5 vote the 14 high judges decided that U.N. members, such as the Soviet Union, France and most of the Arab States in arrears on assessments for the costs of peace-keeping operations amounting to 80-million-dollars should pay up.

The U.N. General Assembly last Dec. 20 asked the World Court for an advisory opinion on whether The Congo and Middle East peace mission are expenses of the organization and thus binding on all U.N. members.

Oral pleadings opened May 14 before World Court President Bohdan Viniarski of Poland.

G. I. Tunkin, director of Moscow's Juridical Treaty Department, contended that under the charter only the Security Council—and not the General Assembly—has competence to take action to maintain international peace.

All other states represented at the hearings — Australia, Canada, Ireland, Italy, Netherlands, Norway, the United Kingdom and the United States—said all U.N. members share such costs.

The court's advice is of major importance for a solution to the U.N. financial crisis and its ability to act in emergencies.

To enforce the court's advice, the U.N. Assembly might threaten to strip nonpaying members of their voting rights in the assembly.

Jury Group Will Study Novato Blast

A committee of the Marin County Grand Jury will study the case of a Novato dynamite blast, which rocked the area of Maestro Road last month, to see what action, if any, the grand jury should take.

Jury Foreman Irving D. Chapman said the matter was turned over last night to the public works committee headed by James Marshall. No date has been set on when the committee is to report its findings.

The grand jurors indicted two San Quentin inmates for escapes from prison, seven and eight years ago.

Elmer Leroy Sherwood, Los Angeles robber, and Jesus Pantoja, Los Angeles robber and attempted rapist, were formally charged with escape from San Quentin.

Sherwood fled the prison on Sept. 8, 1954, and Pantoja on Nov. 28, 1955.

Both Sherwood and Pantoja were recently returned to San Quentin after serving long prison terms in out of state penitentiaries.

Grand jurors decided not to indict convict Raymond Leroy Mercer for assault because of insufficient evidence. Mercer was suspected of assaulting another inmate in San Quentin last June 10.

KENTFIELD SCHOOL PRINCIPAL CHOSEN

Daniel Charles Woodward, 44, former principal of a Gilroy junior high school, was chosen last night as new principal of Adaline E. Kent School in Kentfield.

The Kentfield School District board voted 4-0 for Woodward's appointment. Trustee Mary E. Bingham was absent, but had earlier agreed to selection of Woodward, reported Supt. Howard C. Harmon.

Woodward resigned last month as principal of E. E. Brownell Intermediate School in Gilroy, after serving in the post nine years, reported Harmon.

AT YUBA CITY

From 1947 to 1953 he was principal-teacher at Tierra Buena School in Yuba City. He served as principal or teacher at other Yuba City schools in 1946 and 1947, Harmon said.

Woodward received his bachelor of arts and master of education degrees from Chico State College.

He will receive $11,000 a year, Harmon said.

He succeeds George Renworth, who resigned to head the adult education program at San Quentin Prison. Asst. Principal William Hartley, who was one of the applicants for the permanent job, is serving as temporary principal this month.

DUE INCREASE

Renworth received $10,900 a year as Kent principal but was to be hiked next year to $11,800, Harmon said.

Forty-nine applicants for the principalship were screened by a committee consisting of Harmon, his administrative assistant, Anthony Bacich, and asst. county schools supt. Edward Credell. They narrowed the field to the six most eligible, who were interviewed by trustees.

Bloodhounds Join Search For Lost Boy

San Rafael contractor Michael McLean and two of his bloodhounds were flown by Air Force helicopter into the rugged mountains of Kings Canyon National Park this morning to join a search for a 12-year-old Berkeley boy, missing since Wednesday.

Allen Visher disappeared while on a Sierra Club trip with his mother, Peggy, and three other children. Park rangers said the boy was separated from others somewhere in the Dog Creek area at about 6,000 feet elevation.

AIR RESCUE

Rangers called the Western Air Rescue Center at Hamilton Air Force Base last night to request the bloodhounds and two search helicopters. The helicopters were dispatched from Stead Air Force Base near Reno.

McLean drove last night with his dogs to Cedar Grove east of Fresno, where one of the helicopters picked him up at 10:15 a.m. today.

ROCK CLIMBERS

He joined the ground search party, which includes expert rock climbers. The two helicopters have radio contact with the ground party.

The boy's mother is with a group searching in the Simpson Meadow area. The boy's father is Dr. John S. Visher of Berkeley.

U.S. Space Nerve Center Planned

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The space agency said today it will build a 30-million-dollar electronic never center in Houston to control manned flights to the moon.

The lunar "mission control center" will be an addition to the 90-million-dollar manned spacecraft center which the National Aeronautics and Space Administration also is establishing at Houston.

APPRENTICESHIP STAMP

The Post Office Department today released this design of an apprenticeship stamp, marking the 25th anniversary of enactment of the National Apprenticeship Act. U. S Cutting Aid To Peru

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States is cutting off aid to Peru in an effort to bring about an early return to civilian democratic government in the South American country.

Announcement of the cutoff of aid, except for relatively minor humanitarian assistance, came late yesterday shortly after the White House had denounced the military takeover in Lima as dealing a serious setback to the cause of democracy in the Western Hemisphere.

Humanitarian aid which will be continued include providing school lunches to Peruvian children. The food for those meals, costing about 2 million dollars a year, is already in the warehouses in Peru, officials here said.

More Peruvian Workers Strike

WASHINGTON (AP)—The House has passed a compromise farm bill that most members found barely palatable.

Passage came late yesterday on a 229-163 roll call vote.

The measure continues, with some changes, the existing voluntary crop reduction programs for wheat and feed grains, and provides for new voluntary curbs for milk production. It replaces the more restrictive administration bill rejected by the House last month.

President Gets Welfare Bill

WASHINGTON (AP)—An administration bill aimed at encouraging families on the relief rolls to make themselves self-sustaining finally has reached President John F. Kennedy's desk.

The Senate sent it to the White House last night by voice vote after brief debate. The House had approved the measure earlier in the day 357 to 34.

The final 300-million-dollar version gives the President most of what he wanted in the way of revised welfare laws.

House Passes Farm Bill

LIMA, Peru (AP)—Workers struck in the interior and more street clashes erupted in Lima last night as pressure mounted on Peru's two-day-old military junta at home and abroad.

An American sugar company official said 75 per cent of his firm's plantations were shut down by a walkout of worker loyal to Victor Raul Haya de la Torre, leftist but avowed anti-Communist presidential aspirant who was the principal target of the military takeover.

Hails Laos Pact

GENEVA (UPI) — Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko arrived today and welcomed agreement on a Laos settlement as "important for peace in Southeast Asia."

Shedding Beverly

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Architectural draftsman Maurice de Leon, 23, said yesterday that his one-year-old marriage to Beverly Aadland, onetime Errol Flynn protege, is on the rocks.

He said he called the 20-year-old singer in Agawam, Mass., Wednesday and told her to institute divorce proceedings.

Accord In Algeria?

ALGIERS (AP)—The leaders of Algeria's guerrilla fighters were reported today to have worked out a proposed compromise in the bitter quarrel dividing the new nation.

There was no official word of what the compromise provided. But one usually well-informed source said the guerrilla army's Council of Wilayas zones would propose that:

1. The government would be headed by a six-man political bureau of the National Liberation Front, the FLN, divided equally between the rival factions of moderate Premier Ben Youssef Ben Khedda and radical Deputy Premier Ahmed Ben Bella.

2. Ben Bella would head the radicals on the Politburo, but Ben Khedda would be shelved. The moderate members would be Deputy Premiers Belkacem Krim and Mohammed Boudiaf and Interior Minister Lakhdar Ben Tobbal.

3. The Politburo would lead the FLN as a political party into the constituent Assembly elections Aug. 12, and the Assembly probably would continue it in charge of the government.

Rocket Test Plan

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Army has decided to test fire unarmed rockets over sparsely populated areas of the Southwest because the missiles have outgrown the White Sands testing range in New Mexico.

The test firings will begin in the middle of 1963. An Army announcement yesterday said the missiles will carry no explosives in their dummy warheads.

Caroline Has Passport

WASHINGTON (AP) — Caroline Kennedy has her own passport now—and it's quite a special one. It identifies the Kennedys' 4-year-old as "a dependent of the President of the United States."

Since Caroline is a minor, the president took the oath of allegiance for her yesterday. Caroline got the black-covered document that assures she'll receive the courtesies extended a president's family.

Strike Choice

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Striking flight engineers faced today a choice of returning to their Eastern Air Lines jobs or risking replacement by other employees.

The big carrier called upon 80 jet copilots to qualify for flight engineer assignment on jets. Eastern said it would put the copilots in flight engineer posts not manned on or before July 24 by the engineers.

Search Called Off

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—The Coast Guard has abandoned the search for the body of Richard Steele, 18, heir to a Southern California fortune, who was washed overboard from a luxury yacht early Tuesday.

The Coast Guard announced yesterday that the search had been called off although an investigation of the youth's death was continuing.

Young Steele was the son of Commodore Richard Steele of the Newport Beach Yacht Club, an executive of the Squirt bottling company.

He was washed overboard off Fort Ross when the $275,000 power ketch Holiday became disabled in high seas.

Winnie Comfortable

LONDON (UPI)—Sir Winston Churchill spent a comfortable night and the date of his release from Middlesex Hospital may be announced soon, a medical spokesman said today.

U.S. Deficit Is Trimmed A Mite

WASHINGTON (AP) — Congress appeared pleased today but hardly excited at word that the government wound up its 1962 bookkeeping year with a budget deficit 700 million dollars less than estimated in January. The final red ink figure was 6.3 billion dollars.

None of the House members who commented on the development thought the moderately pleasant fiscal news would have much influence on any decision for an income tax cut now or later.

Some thought, however, that even a modest reduction in the deficit would calm the nervousness of foreign holders of U.S. dollars and therefore help the balance of payments deficit.

Announcing the fiscal 1962 deficit, the Treasury said yesterday both income and spending were overestimated in January, when a 7-billion-dollar deficit was projected. Spending on defense, space, foreign and national security programs was down 248 million dollars and other government agencies spent 1.1 billion dollars less than anticipated.

But corporate income and other business-linked revenues were down also, more than offsetting a rise in personal income tax yield.

Charles A. Halleck of Indiana, House Republican leader, expressed the reaction of many colleagues when he shrugged off the improvement in the deficit figure as too small to make any difference in anyone's plans.

Some high-placed Democrats privately agreed. One, who would not be quoted, said the difference is within the margin of error with which all treasury projections should be treated. But he added:

"Anyway, I'm glad it wasn't off in the other direction."

Chairman Wright Patman, (D-Tex.) of the joint Senate-House Economic Committee said the improved fiscal picture was bound to do some good, but "a 10 per cent reduction is not too meaningful."

But Rep. Thomas B. Curtis of Missouri, a Republican who frequently criticizes President John F. Kennedy's fiscal policies, hailed the budget news as "a good indicator" that should help the stock market and the country's international payments position.

Curtis, a member of the tax-writing Ways and Means Committee as well as of the Joint Economic Committee, said: "This should help the market for government bonds and therefore the balance of payments."

The deficit is the largest in peacetime except for two years —1959 when the government was 12.4 billion dollars in the red and 1953 when a 9.4-billion-dollar deficit reflected the peak spending of the Korean fighting.

The fiscal 1962 budget was the 10th with a deficit in the 16 years stretching back to fiscal 1947, when the tide of World War II spending ebbed.

Bomb In Rome

ROME (UPI) — A time bomb was set off last night in a booth where postcards are sold to tourists visiting the monument to Victor Emmanuel II, Italy's tomb of the unknown soldier. Damage was reported slight and no one was injured.

Another Stock Loss Reported

NEW YORK (UPI)—The second big loss, and probable theft, of valuable stocks from major Wall Street brokerage houses reported within two weeks was disclosed yesterday. The latest batch of securities totaled $122,828.

So far, $52,612 worth of General Dynamics stocks reported missing by the firm of Carl M. Loeb, Rhoades and Co. has been recovered, but no arrests made.

Still missing was $70,216 in other securities, all of which Loeb, Rhoades said was covered by insurance.

The latest stock disappearance, while of major proportions, failed to come close to the 1.4 million dollars worth of securities reported earlier this month as stolen from Bache and Co. in the same Wall Street building.

Four men have been arrested in connection with the Bache and Co. theft and more than $88,000 in missing stocks recovered.

Males Can't Be Mailed Even For Postoffice

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Postmaster General J. Edward Day regretfully advised a young lady in Wyoming today that it is against the rules to mail a male.

A teen-age girl in Rawlins, Wyo., had sought Day's help in arranging a summer visit from her boy friend in Illinois.

In a letter to the postmaster general, she said:

"Would you please tell me if it is possible and lawful to mail oneself? "The reason is, my boy friend and my girl friend's boy friend live in Illinois, where we used to live. Our fathers were transferred here to Wyoming.

"Our boy friends want to come and see us before they go away to college this fall. But we know how hard they have worked in order to save the money to even start college. The cost by train, round trip, is almost $100. We have found that bus is about the same.

"If it is possible to mail oneself, would it be cheaper? If so, how much less? Also, how would you go about it?"

The girl added that she was taking her postal problem to the top man because the local post office seemed disinclined to take her inquiry seriously.

The postmaster general, who has two teen-age daughters of his own, replied sympathetically.

"I am sorry that the post office department cannot help you," he wrote, "but people aren't mailable—even when they're male."

NEGROES FIGHTING FOR EQUAL RIGHTS

NEW YORK (AP) — Preparations are under way for a "Freedom Highways" drive in the South by the Congress Of Racial Equality to end segregation at roadside restaurants.

Marvin Rich, the organization's community relations director, said a picked team of 30 participants is in training at Greensboro, N.C., for the six-state operation, to begin July 31.

It will last through August, the sponsors say.

"The effort will be to desegregate major chain restaurants in the South for Negroes who travel by car," Rich said.

Principal targets, he said, will be restaurants of the Howard Johnson's chain and of the Holiday Inn motel chain, whose networks of roadside eating places are among the largest in the South.

The anti-segregation party, traveling in several automobiles, plans to cover Virginia, North Carolina, South Carolina, Kentucky, Tennessee, and possibly some points in Georgia, in the drive.

And, he contends, the beauty of the nonviolent movement against segregation in America is that it can be founded on love—not hate.

The Atlanta minister and civil rights leader expounded on non-violent civil disobedience yesterday to a hushed audience at the National Press Club. Afterward the newsmen gave a standing ovation to the first American Negro to appear before the club.

King said nonviolent resistance "has a way of disarming the opponent, it exposes his moral defenses, it weakens his morale and at the same time it works on his conscience."

ALBANY, Ga. (AP)—A large-scale demonstration was reported in the works today as Negroes in this south Georgia community prepared to step up their anti-segregation activities.

Most of the anti-segregation demonstrations this week have involved teen-agers. Seven were arrested yesterday when they staged a sit-in at the lunch counter of a suburban drug store.

While the sit-in was going on, a party of 50 Negroes held a picnic. They chose the white area of Albany's Tift Park to spread their lunch, but finally moved to the Negro section on orders from Asst. Police Chief Jim Lairsey.

Park authorities contended the Negroes had failed to make a reservation for the table. Charlie Jones, leader of the group, argued, fruitlessly, that white friends had reserved the table for their use.

Net farm income in 1962 probably will be maintained near the $12.7 billion level of 1961, according to Ohio State University extension economists.

Tomales Postoffice Has Moved

The Tomales Postoffice, one of the oldest in Marin County, moved this week into larger quarters in a remodeled building next to its former location in the rear of the Diekmann General Store. The new rented quarters have an area of 622 square feet.

Screenline and post office boxes which have been installed are excess surplus equipment from various California postoffices which have been modernized. Some new equipment has been installed.

The change in location is the first in 58 years. Previously the office was in a building in the lower town near the former Tomales estuary, when the community was much larger. The optsoffice, along with the rest of Tomales, suffered extensive damage in the earthquake and fire of 1906.

One patron still has the same box number he had has since 1915.

Mrs. Vera W. Gilman is postmaster.

Point Reyes Seashore Goes To House Monday

Consideration of the bill to establish a Point Reyes National Seashore will be given in the Monday, according to Rep. Clem Miller (D-Corte Madera) who is a sponsor of the measure.

Miller said today he had been told of the scheduling by the House Democratic leader, following clearance last Tuesday by the Rules Committee which proposed a rule of two hours general debate plus additional time for consideration of any amendments.

This apparently brings final decision near since the Senate the Senate has already passed the bill. Supporters have urged quick action because of continuing moves toward subdivisions within the 53,000-acre area of the proposed park.

60 Demo Candidates Pose With Kennedy

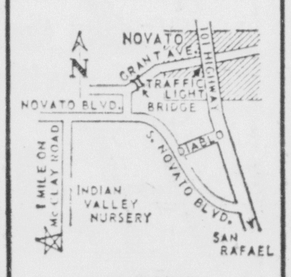

WASHINGTON (UPI) — More than 60 Democratic congressional candidates from 20 states had their pictures taken yesterday with President John F. Kennedy and Vice President Lyndon B. Johnson for campaign use.

The candidates were photographed individually with each in the White House rose garden. Kennedy held a similar picture-taking session with 17 Democratic senatorial candidates in his office last week.

Novato Park Unit Doesn't Want Swimming Pool Issue Election

The Novato Parks and Recreation Advisory Commission objects to a November election on a bond issue to finance a community swimming pool.

The commission had plumped for the pool. But its members voted last night to have chairman Jack Sparrow and member Thomas Dent appear at next Tuesday night's council meeting to urge that some means other than a bond issue be sought for financing. All members were urged to attend the council meeting.

Last Friday, the council voted to call for a $100,000 bond issue to finance a swimming pool to be built on the high school grounds. It would be held at the same time as the November general election, the council said.

The recreation commission had proposed a $33,075 swimming pool 42 by 75 feet, a 34 foot square diving pool to cost $16,184 and paving, fencing filters, etc., to cost $21,326. This totals $72,585. Dressing rooms at the high school gymnasium would be used.

Mrs. John Machado, former commission member, last night told the commission that a swimming pool had been built at Cloverdale using Veterans' Memorial funds. She proposed that the commission explore the possibility of building a pool with such funds. (Novato has no veterans' Memorial funds.)

Suarrow and Dent were to ask the council to also consider a special tax, or private contributions, for money to build the pool before calling for a bond issue election.

The commission also held an executive session to discuss applicants for the job of fulltime parks and recreation director.

How Will Treasury Make Up Deficit If Taxes Are Cut?

By SAM DAWSON

NEW YORK (AP)—If taxes are cut to awaken a lackadaisical economy how will the treasury make up its deficit?

By selling securities at a high enough interest rate to interest long term investors —that's the apparent idea of the Federal Reserve Board chairman. He prefers higher interest rates to further monetary inflation.

By borrowing short term at a lower rate from the nation's banks—that's the way, more often than not, it's been done in the past. This inflates the supply of money and credit, even if price inflation doesn't follow immediately.

Those who are urging a tax cut now—along with those who advocate pepping up the economy by more and faster government spending — say that the treasury can finance the deficit by just being patient.

That is, the tax cut or the greater spending, or both is counted upon to increase business activity and personal incomes enough to raise tax collections and finally balance the budget.

The fiscal policy that Federal Reserve Chairman William McChesney Martin Jr. appeared to be advocating in his testimony before the House Banking Committee would let interest rates do what comes naturally. That is, let them rise with the increased treasury borrowing. The aim: To put the new securities in the hands of long term investors rather than in the hands of the commercial banking system.

He denied that the Federal Reserve planned to end the easy money policy of the last 18 months. But he opposed any plan to make money easier by expanding bank resources so they could buy short term treasury securities at a low interest rate.

The easy money advocates are sure to fight Martin's ideas.

Some hold that interest rates already are too high. The federal reserve and the administration has wanted short term interest rates kept high enough to discourage further loss of investment to European money centers where yields are higher.

But easy money advocates hold that theirs is the sure way to get the economy moving. They say that low rates encourage consumers to buy on time, whether it be kitchen appliances or homes, and businessmen to take risks and expand or go into new ventures.

The theory is that such consumer and business spending is sure to create more taxable income despite price rises, so that even lower rates bring in more funds to the treasury.

An increasing treasury deficit from a tax cut would put pressure on present interest rates because heavy sales of government securities tend to absorb supplies of investment funds. The money market, like any other, responds to increased demand and smaller supply.

The Federal Reserve could offset this by a number of credit expanding moves that would give banks more funds to buy the Treasury's short term notes. This would hold interest rates down. But Martin says any such combination of artificially cheap money and increased spending "always leads to trouble."

Sausalito Park Plan Hearing Set Aug. 18

Sausalito recreation commissioners last night set a public hearing for Aug. 16 at 8 p.m. to consider landscaping plans for a new park on Cloud View Road on property donated to the city by William Roth.

The commission also laid plans to purchase a second new park site during the coming year out of a $10,000 budget.

At the hearing, landscape architect Lawrence Halprin of San Rafael will present plans for development of a park and children's play area on the Cloud View Road property.

A second park site, either in the Spring Street Valley or the Old Town flat area, will be recommended for purchase during the coming year. Commissioners John Minton and Alfred M. Arenz were appointed to investigate and suggest a suitable site.

Commissioners also accepted a trade agreement from Sam Zakessian, owner of Zack's Restaurant on the Sausalito waterfront. The city would dig a drainage ditch along Turney Street to direct runoff water into the bay. In exchange, Zakessian would oil the upperpath of the Turney Street launching ramp, situated next to Zack's.

The resignation of a recently appointed commissioner, Edith Kodmur, who is leaving the area, was accepted with regret.

NORSTAD

Kennedy said he knows of no one who has been better able to bear the burdens and that Norstad has become "a living symbol of the United States commitment to the Alliance and of the strength of the Alliance itself."

Kennedy said he felt "particularly fortunate that you were in command last summer when the situation in Berlin reached crisis proportions."

"Your judgment, your perceptiveness and your vigorous approach to our common problems have been of tremendous value to me," Kennedy said.

Norstad was at the White House last Monday to confer with the president and talked over with Kennedy then his desire to retire.

In his letter to Kennedy confirming this desire, Norstad said that one of the foremost reasons for his decision "is the simple fact that after 12 years with NATO, six of which I have served as supreme Allied commander Europe, I have stayed in one field of activity and in one position somewhat longer than is the normal practice in the military services."

The Norstad request for retirement was a formal bid to be relieved as commander in chief of the U.S. European command on or about Nov. 1. Along with this will go his release from the position of supreme Allied commander in Europe as a matter of course.

Norstad said he had informed the secretary-general of the NATO Council of his decision to retire, and he assumed steps would be taken by the council and the U.S. government to release him from the position of supreme Allied commander at the beginning of November.

Tennis Court Wire Dangers Reported

The City of Sausalito has wrapped dangerous wires on the tennis courts at Richardson Bay School with rubber tubing, Sausalito recreation commissioners learned last night.

The commission voted unanimously to request the Sausalito School District board to move the wires permanently. Jeffrey Griffeath, 11, sliced open his eyelid when he ran into one of the wires while playing on the courts this week.

Marinwood CSD Suing For Land

The Marinwood Community Services District expects to go to court late this year in a condemnation suit for its proposed 10-acre community center site.

District directors decided to proceed with condemnation after appraisals of the land at Lucas Valley and Miller Creek roads showed widely different estimates. In a letter from County Counsel E. Warren McGuire, the CSD board learned last night that a trial could be scheduled in late November or early December.

Land for the proposed $356,000 community center and firehouse is owned by Barhugh Estates, Inc., represented by Gerald P. Hoytt of Richmond.

Directors approved a one-year $7,200 contract with Frank Reese, Lucas Valley gardener, to plant and maintain landscaping along Lucas Valley and Miller Creek roads.

The board will meet Monday at 8 p.m. at Mary E. Silveira School to discuss a proposed 1962-63 budget of $50,000. This year's budget was $48,700.

Homes Group Will Vote On Route

Sleepy Hollow Homes Assn. members will be asked to vote in October on the route for a road from Terra Linda to the Ross Valley.

Potential routes were discussed last night at the association's quarterly meeting.

Sleepy Hollow residents have declared opposition to the extension of Freitas Parkway in Terra Linda to Fawn Drive in Sleepy Hollow as proposed by developers of the Northgate Shopping Center. An alternate route will be presented to association members at their Oct. 18 meeting, said director Max C. Eastman.

Robert H. Brownne, president of the Terra Linda Community Services District, was present at the homeowners' meeting and told them his board "wished to co-operate in every way" in finding a route over the hill to satisfy everyone.

Rec Unit Wants Budget Rescinded

The Sausalito Recreation Commission last night demanded that the city council rescind the 1962-63 budget it adopted two weeks ago.

The budget, declared recreation commissioners, was adopted without ever being shown to the recreation commission. The commissioners voted unanimously to demand it be rescinded.

The $554,050 budget includes $5,572 for the recreation commission — less than half the $12,790 it received in last year's budget.

ANTI-MISSILE TEST SUCCESS

This map locates the Pacific Island of Kwajalein where an Army Nike-Zeus anti-missile missile was fired yesterday in the first successful interception of an intercontinental ballistic missile. The Defense Department said the Nike-Zeus successfully intercepted a target vehicle launched from Vandenberg Air Force Base, 4,500 miles away.

Revised College Physical Education Center Approved

Slightly revised plans for College of Marin's new million-dollar physical education center were accepted last night by a 4-to-1 vote of the college board of trustees.

Trustee George G. Washburn dissented. He said a new gymnasium should be postponed because a student center and science building are more important.

"Are we going to wait two years to improve our science building?" Washburn asked. "I can't in good conscience vote for these plans because physical education shouldn't have priority over basic education."

College president Stephen Epler said construction of the gymnasium would free land at the old gymnasium site for other classroom buildings.

He added that physical education classes were a state legal requirement.

A "more compact" design for the gymnasium was approved by the board, which previously had postponed action because of objections the design was "too expensive looking." Architect H. David Sokoloff of the firm of Falk and Booth revised plans so that buildings and corridors on the 10-acre gymnasium site would require less space but the general design remains unchanged.

Minor alterations included putting the diving pool and swimming pool side by side instead of end to end. Total cost of the facilities was estimated at $1,211,317, of which about $950,000 would be for buildings.

Trustees accepted the preliminary plans and authorized Falk and Booth to proceed with detailed designs. Landscaping will be discussed at the board's Aug. 2 meeting.

The college board last night also:

1. Authorized expenditure of $70,666 for equipment and supplies, including language class tape recorders, equipment for dental assistant classes, and new chairs.
2. Accepted faculty committee reports on student personnel, community relations, and adult education.
3. Authorized advertising for bids on summer maintenance including roof repairs on Olney Hall and refinishing of library tables.
4. Approved insurance for athletes at a cost of $4,541.
5. Authorized hiring Mrs. Patricia W. Brann, formerly employed by the Kentfield School District library, to work part-time for about 10 months in the college library. She will catalogue books for $3.25 an hour.
6. Accepted $1,609 from the State Division of Real Estate for assistance in the college's real estate education program.
7. Authorized use of the art, engineering and auto shop buildings as fallout shelters, requested by the Marin Court Office of Disaster and Civil Defense.
8. Postponed until Aug. 2 further discussion of proposed graduation requirements.
9. Approved annual dues of $873 for the district's membership in 10 associations and councils.

COLEGE TRUSTEES HEAR SOUND FURY

There was much fury over sound last night at the College of Marin board of trustees meeting.

Charles J. Catania, owner of Catania Sound, in San Rafael, protested to trustees that he and all taxpayers in the college district had been treated unfairly because his firm was not awarded the contract to supply sound equipment for the college language department.

Trustees awarded the contract on April 24 to Teaching Aids, Inc., of Long Beach, for $11,487. Catania's bid was $10,449.

"The board accepted the highest of three bids," Catania said. "My equipment was equal if not superior."

He showed the board samples of the two tape recording sound reproducers, pointing out that his was a "de luxe model" featuring two motors instead of one and an instrument panel more easily operated.

"You were misled," Catania said. "Competent advice was not given to you."

He said language instructors George Ball and George Duncan asked for certain features and his sound equipment provided all of them plus extra features.

He said the teachers were not qualified in electronics, anyway.

"No one called me to ask whether my equipment would fill all specifications," Catania added. "The taxpayers' money was used unwisely, and money has gone to Long Beach which would have been spent in Marin."

Paul O. Lamphere, attorney for Catania, told the board the law requires it to accept the "lowest responsible bidder."

Board president Kent O. Seymour told Lamphere: "What you say indicates there may be a lawsuit, and I'm not going to answer any questions. Direct them to the county counsel."

"The term 'lowest responsible bidder' is not very strict," said Douglas J. Maloney, assistant county counsel. "The board may accept the bid which best complies with specifications. If the board was wrong, nothing could be done about it now."

Inverness Group Elects Officers

Don Patterson has been re-elected president of the Inverness Improvement Assn., with Corwin Mocene elected vice president; Gus Miller, treasurer, and John Holstius, secretary.

The association voted a resolution asking the county planning commission and board of supervisors to refrain as far as legally possible from any changes in zoning or granting of variances or subdivision permits until completion of the West Marin Master Plan.

It also voted to ask federal and state authorities not to run highway approaches to the proposed Point Reyes National Seashore through Inverness.

Directors were directed to make a further study of school unification possibilities to be presented for vote of the members.

Truck Won't Go— Transmission Gone

Theft of a transmission was discovered this morning when Louis Giambastiani of 45 Pleasant Lane, San Rafael, got in his pickup truck and could not put it in gear.

The vehicle had been parked in front of his residence since 5:50 p.m. yesterday, according to police.

Mrs. Deedy Named Head Of Trustees

Mrs. Elizabeth M. Deedy of Ross was elected president of the College of Marin board of trustees last night for 1962-63.

She will replace Kent O. Seymour of Mill Valley, who in turn will replace Mrs. Deedy as clerk of the board.

Elected to the board in 1958, Mrs. Deedy served as president in 1960-61, also with Seymour as clerk.

Robert E. Oliver of San Rafael was elected vice president. The vote for all new officers was unanimous.

Intoxicated Driver Gets 30 Days, Fine

Melvin R. Bauman, 48, of Santa Rosa, who has been convicted six times previously of drunken driving, must serve 30 days in Marin County Jail and pay $276 fine for his seventh offence.

Judge Harold J. Haley of Marin Municipal Court sentenced Bauman yesterday for driving while intoxicated along Sir Francis Drake Boulevard on May 15.

The judge also put Bauman on three years supervised probation for driving without a license. He must take treatment for alcoholism as directed by the probation officer.

Since 1954, Bauman has been convicted of drunken driving three times in Modesto, twice in Napa, once in Santa Rosa, and once in Marin.

Judge Haley sentenced another repeater, Neal Martin Simpson, 66, of Oakland to 10 days in jail and $276 fine. San Rafael police arrested Simpson at Third and High streets on June 28. He had prior convictions in 1957 and in 1960 in Alameda County.

Simpson was put on three years supervised probation and ordered to get treatment for alcoholism at the direction of the probation officer. During probation, he must not drink at all.

A third drunken driver, Miles Standish Staples Jr., 33, of 277 Cascade Drive, Mill Valley, drew $166 fine and six months probation for his first offense. Judge Leonard A. Thomas pronounced sentence. Staples was arrested for driving while intoxicated on Highway 101 at Manzanita on July 7.

San Luis Obispo County, home of the Pismo clam, is midway between San Francisco and Los Angeles.

Suspected Prowler Loses Shirt, Freedom After Chase In Fairfax

A Hamilton Air Force Base airman lost his freedom and his shirt late last night in a chase that ended abruptly against a fence in the 600 block of Cascade Avenue, Fairfax.

Police Officers William Dooley and Donald Eggleston reportedly chased the shirtless suspect through the bushes and brambles of back yards until he ran into a fence.

A/2 Ronald Wayne Jackson, 21, scratched and winded, was jailed on suspicion of prowling. He would not say what happened to his shirt and Officers Dooley and Eggleston were unable to find it.

They spotted the airman at the rear of the Charles Light home at 661 Cascade Drive where they had been called to investigate a prowler at 11:30 p.m.

THEY'RE FOR SALE

Strike Up The Band In College Uniforms

Anybody who wants to organize a 32-piece band can start by inquiring at the College of Marin.

The college music department has 32 old band uniform jackets and hats which it wants to get rid of. The board of trustees last night authorized the uniforms, along with other unneeded music department equipment, to be advertised for sale.

"They're out of style," college president Stephen E. Epler told the board. "We have a band, but it's not a marching band, and the uniforms have been in storage a long time."

"The band members would probably want Bermuda shorts now," commented trustee George G. Washburn.

Also to be sold are 31 old choir robes, 20 pairs of white slacks, two clarinets, three saxophones, two trombones, a trumpet, a vibraphone, and an oboe.

Railroad Coaches To Be Barged Here

Four Southern Pacific coaches will be barged from San Francisco to the Tiburon Northwestern Pacific Railroad terminal Thursday for a round-trip train ride between Tiburon and San Rafael sponsored by the Belvedere Landmark Society.

The coaches, which carry 50 passengers each, must be barged because of the collapse of the Puerto Suello tunnel. The train will make three round trips on Saturday, July 28.

The Santa Fe Railroad barges freight cars for Northwestern Pacific regularly on Tuesdays and Thursdays. It will carry the coaches on one of its regular trips.

Shakespeare Festival Sets Special Matinee

The Marin Shakespeare Festival will present a single afternoon eprformance of "Twelfth Night" Sunday at 4 p.m. at the Art and Garden Center, Ross.

This comedy will be followed on Aug. 3 by "Henry V," directed by Jack Aranson, who appeared as Hotspur in the Actor's Workshop production of "Henry IV." A matinee of "Henry V" will be performed on Aug. 19 at 4 p.m.

College Budget Approved

A preliminary budget of $2,869,983 for fiscal 1963 was approved for publication last night by Marin Junior College District trustees.

The budget includes nearly one million dollars which is expected from a special 35-cent tax levy approved June 5 by voters in the college district.

The 35-cent tax increase for expansion of the college will be added to the existing tax rate of 42 cents, making an expected rate of 77 cents per $100 assessed valuation.

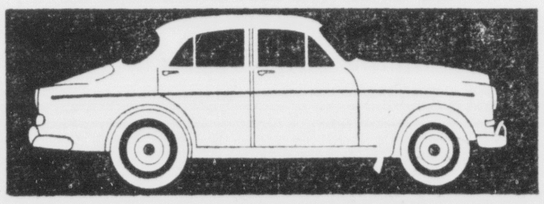

Trustees established a special reserve fund for the tax increase, to be used only for building construction and maintenance.

A public hearing on the budget will be held Aug. 2.

Car Missing

John Charles DeMartini, an employee at Stenstrom Buick Co., 502 Francisco Boulevard, San Rafael, reported to police yesterday the theft of a car by a man about 23 years old who asked to try one out and never returned it to the lot.

DINING OUT AND INNS

By HARRY CRAFT

There's Variety Of Good Eating Spots In County You Should Try

The dining route is a varied one in Marin County. It is also a constantly changing one.

New restaurants appear. Others drop out or change ownership. The perennials vary their menus, remodel or introduce new services from time to time to keep interest alive.

So the dining-outer, if he wished, could indulge himself twice a week and never retrace his exact tracks. I have yet to find one, however, who does. Most people, having found satisfaction at a few places, tend to rely on them heavily rather than search out the unknowns.

There's nothing especially wrong with that premise. Repeat visits often become more pleasurable for the diner as he becomes a recognized figure and becomes acquainted with other habitues.

Still—no matter how satisfied you are, isn't it about time you made an occasional change from your regular routine?

To touch on a few places lightly:

RANCHO NICASIO—Tomorrow night is a particularly good time. It's the Rancho's 16th annual barbecue dinner to help raise funds for the Nicasio Volunteer Fire Department.

Delicious barbecued chicken dinner from 7:30 p.m. — $2.50; dancing to the music of Jack Barnes and his orchestra; fashion show; floor show (including the Balladiers from Washington State); Bill Endicott doing the emceeing.

You'll have plenty of company, but there's plenty of room and it will be a fast-moving evening.

SINCE WE'VE INVADED outer Marin, don't overlook the possibilities a little farther west. Inverness has two possibilities you may have overlooked. Inverness Lodge and Drake's Arms. Same people operate both places. But one specializes in Czechoslovakian food and old world atmosphere (the Lodge) and the other mostly American with a faint touch of the European. Weekends it's best to make reservations for dinners at the Lodge. Very popular in the summer.

Located north of Novato on the 101 Highway—just a nice drive. Look for it on the west side. Interesting layout and menu. Good chance of Tomahawk becoming a strong favorite with many.

CLOUD 5—Now an old standby in downtown Novato. American food. German food. Dancing upstairs Saturday night in the Cloud Room. Personally I lean toward some of the German dishes here. Say hello to Chris Bolton for me—and you can say it in German.

NOVATO JOE'S—The trouble here—it's hard for someone whose only acquaintance with Novato is breezing through it on the highway to find the place. Turn west at the Diablo stoplight. Curve over one block to South Novato Boulevard and travel south. Look for the Nave Shopping Center. That's where it is.

NAVE LANES — You don't have to be a bowler to enjoy yourself here. Nero's Room is something unique. On the east side of the highway at Ignacio. Look for architecture that reminds you something of Hollywood.

FAIRFAX splits its dining pleasures three ways:

Deer Park Villa is the oldest, but with all the remodeling inside if you haven't been there for some time you won't recognize it. Food's as good as it ever was—trust the Ghiringhellis to see to that. Deer Park closes on Wednesdays so arrange your schedule accordingly. Wonderful Italian food.

RUBINI'S — Hector Rubini gave it the Italian name; Dick Templeton and Gordon Jones took out the Italian food and substituted continental. I can't imagine that you haven't been here at least once, but life is full of surprises. Closed Mondays and Tuesdays.

DOMINIC'S—This has every right to your serious consideration as a regular for lunches or dinners. On the San Rafael Canal off Francisco Boulevard. Watch sharply or you may pass the turn-off. Varied menu. Large cocktail lounge. Lots of room inside, on the deck and for parking. Yet there have been times when I have seen all of them filled.

SPEAKING of Hector Rubini —there's no harm in reminding you again that Hector and his brother - in - law Guido Farina have San Rafael Joe's in downtown San Rafael. So close in you may pass by it without thinking. One of the best Joe's restaurants I've ever visited.

Closed Sundays — but what those two can do with food the rest of the week!

IF YOU HAVEN'T visited the Colonel's Ranch Wagon on the highway down Mill Valley way lately—here's a chance to note the change.

No more chuck wagon style. Straight table service—lunches and dinners. Dancing Friday and Saturday nights.

Tiburon Fire Unit Approves Purchase

Commissioners for the Tiburon Fire Protection District Wednesday night approved purchase of $1,050 worth of new equipment, including fire hoses, home fire alarm receivers for firemen and a four-way valve which will be installed on a fire truck and used for connecting hoses.

Commissioners tabled approval of fire hydrants in the proposed Mount Tiburon subdivision until a new map is submitted showing how water will be supplied for hill top lots in the subdivision, according to Fire Chief Frank C. Buscher.

Apartments Appeal

Appeal of Harry Weinstein of San Francisco from classification of certain buildings in the Tiburon Estates apartment project as three-story apartments will be heard at a meeting of the Marin County Board of Appeals at 8 p.m. next Tuesday on the second floor of the court house, San Rafael.

Marinite Promoted

Charles W. Henderson of 32 Mohawk Avenue, Corte Madera, has been named administrative vice president of Ets-Hokin and Galvan, Inc. He will be in charge of marketing, advertising, public relations and government affairs from the company's headquarters in San Francisco.

Soldier Of Month

Army Sp/4 Alan M. Petersen, son of Mr. and Mrs. Johannes Petersen of 430 Mission Avenue, San Rafael, recently was named soldier of the month for the 244th Quartermaster Battalion's Headquarters Detachment at Fort Lee, Va.

WINE CORNER

How Bottle Shapes Figure In Things

Wine bottles come in traditional shapes. They are known in most cases by the generic name of the wines contained.

The bottle for a Burgundy wine, for example, has a short neck and long, sloping sides with hardly any shoulders.

The Claret bottle has a straight look, like a sack dress. Its neck is short, but unlike the Burgundy bottle the shoulders are high and well-defined. Growers who favor one style of bottle for most, if not all, of their different wines lean more toward the Claret shape than any other.

The traditional Chianti bottle looks like a bulb with a long neck. It has a round bottom with a raffia wrapping.

Tallest of all and one of the most attractive is that used historically for Rhine wines.

It is so slender and tapered there is no telling where the body ends and the neck begins. Rose wines are often packaged in this bottle.

Good but unknown brands of wines imported from Germany often can be detected by the Export Seal of Quality on the bottle. It was adopted this spring for use only on wines for export to the United States.

Exporters have to pay 6 cents a case for the seal. It is granted to wines which have earned 13 out of a possible 20 points as judged by the German Wine Export Commission.

The idea is to discourage shipping poor quality wines to America.

The reason you won't see it on all wines from Germany is that most of the established brands aren't using it.

The big appeal is to the smaller shippers whose wines are new to the U.S. buyer.

'Education Is More Important Than Birds'

At an organizational meeting where David D. Ring was re-elected chairman, the board of trustees agreed that a possible new high school site near Trestle Glen on the mud flats of Richardson Bay on the Tiburon Peninsula should not be left to the birds without more investigation.

The site is presently part of a bird sanctuary. Early in the year, the board of supervisors passed a resolution advising the county planning commission to ignore consideration of the Trestle Glen site if the peninsula had other suitable areas for a new high school.

"The planning commission just announced that no good site exists on the peninsula and that one must be 'created'," said trustee Leo Souza. "In view of this, we plan to investigate the status of the supervisors' resolution and, if necessary, ask them to consider all site possibilities without eliminating the one on Trestle Glen.

"A new highway is planned to run through the Trestle Glen site. We think the road ought to be moved. The site is centrally located; it has utilities available, no wind and easy access."

New officers besides Ring are Richard J. MacLaury, vice chairman; Souza, clerk; Mrs. Alyce Farkas, clerk pro tempore, and Erwin Farley, representative to the county committee on school district organization.

In other action, the board agreed to meet in Room 14 at Reed School instead of in the school auditorium. Trustees approved publication of the budget and set a public hearing for it at 8 p.m. Aug. 7 in Room 14 at Reed School.

New Strawberry Park Swimming Pool Due

The new Strawberry Park swimming pool on Strawberry Point will be completed Aug. 7, directors for the Strawberry Recreation District learned Wednesday night.

The pool, to be used by members of the district, will open shortly after its completion, according to Arthur R. Senter, vice chairman of the board of directors.

Sausalito On Radio

Sausalito will be featured on radio KGO's "Community Close-up" program Wednesday. Six times during the day a 90-second presentation of the city's historical heritage, cultural achievements and present-day attractions will be heard.

Short House Might Be Tallest In Tract

The home of Mr. and Mrs. D. F. Short may blossom forth as the only two-story residence in Madera Gardens if a decision of the Corte Madera Board of Adjustment is not protested.

The Shorts, of 622 Tamalpais Drive, asked for a variance to build a second story on their home. The board voted unanimously Wednesday night that since the town ordinances permit houses in a single residential district to rise to a height of 30 feet and the proposed second story would make the home only 17 or 18 feet high, no variance was needed.

The decision was made in the face of protests by neighbors.

Thirty-three signed a petition and several appeared in opposition. They contended the added story would destroy the uniformity of the tract and also tend to invade privacy of neighbors since the second story might provide a view into other homes.

The protesting neighbors were told the only possible relief would be an appeal to the planning commission.

All but one of Magellan's ships, which circled the globe in search of spices, foundered.

New Herbert's Sherbet Shoppe

A new Herbert's Sherbet Shoppe under construction at 810 Third Street, San Rafael, is expected to open about Aug. 1.

The ice cream store will be managed by Allan Krause, 18 Flying Cloud Course, Corte Madera.

It's Been One Year Since Tragic NWP Tunnel Fire

Disaster's Impact Felt By Everyone In County

By RANDALL GOULD

Shortly before 5 o'clock on the afternoon of July 20, 1961, one year ago today, two employees of Northwestern Pacific Railroad entered the 1,358-foot Puerto Suello Tunnel north of San Rafael.

Their visit was routine but it was an annual inspection. So it was by one chance out of 365 that Frank E. Gladwin and James Dermit Ireland blundered on two Santa Venetia boys who had just fashioned and ignited torches made of rags, paper and sticks picked up nearby.

These lads, aged only 12 and 13 years, had started several fires in the tunnel structure. Gladwin and Ireland easily put out two, then conquered a couple of others—but the fifth blazed out of their control.

Such random happenings set off a complex of events which brought drastic immediate consequences, others still in progress, and may affect the whole future of Marin County.

Despite every effort by quickly-marshaled forces including the San Rafael and other fire departments, police, the California Highway Patrol, public utility workers and others, the fire within the tunnel was fanned into an intense conflagration which was checked only by rock and dirt caveins at both portals—first of a number of striking resemblances to Western Pacific Railroad's Potrero Tunnel fire in San Francisco nearly a year later.

But there were plenty of grim special items about the Puerto Suello disaster.

At an early stage it cost one life, that of a 23-year-old Alto fireman whose truck fell into a 100-foot cave-in as flames ate at the wood tunnel supports until the roof gave way.

Two apartment houses on Lincoln Avenue, valued together at nearly $200,000, were victims of fire and cave-in.

Major pipelines carrying Kent Lake water to the northern part of the Marin Municipal Water District were broken. Lincoln Avenue caved in, there was damage to nearby Ranchitos Road, and two southbound lanes of Highway 101 had to be closed temporarily. An electric line was snapped by a falling tree, cutting service to 325 homes. Gas lines had to be rerouted.

These were only some of the immediate and in some degree passing consequences. Train traffic through the tunnel was of course halted, but that was presumed by most people to be only a temporary matter.

But before long it began to appear that this question of freight service from the north through San Rafael might become permanent. At any rate, the owners of the railroad wished it so.

Their attitude became apparent even before their now-famous application for abandonment was filed with the Interstate Commerce Commission.

A result of the attitude so expressed four weeks afterward by Northwestern Pacific and its sole owner, Southern Pacific, is that to this day nobody knows the precise situation inside the tunnel.

County fire chief at that times was Charles Reilley, who sent six units to help San Rafael firefighters. He had one of the last looks into the flaming tunnel just before the north portal cave-in and it must have been a spectacular sight indeed.

Reilley believed, however, that major collapse occurred only at the entrances and that after these had been plugged the fire was snuffed out by lack of oxygen. Water sent through the tunnel area in daily tests showed high temperatures prevailing for more than a week, however.

Nobody actually has gone into the tunnel since the disaster. County Coroner Frank J. Keaton was lowered by crane into the cave-in where Fireman Frank Kinsler was lost but he came up without results after three minutes.

Kinsler's body had to be dug out from under tons of dirt and debris and was recovered on the morning of the second day from 50 feet below street level.

Aside from efforts to peer down the points of cave-in, expected survey by either the railroad or anyone else failed to materialize. This was to be a tender point between railroad attorneys and the City of San Rafael, with no real clarification during long-drawn ICC abandonment proceedings.

The actual facts don't seem so obscure but they illustrate how complications multiply fast in any such situation.

Two internationally known engineers, J. Donovan Jacobs of Greenbrae and J. P. Hawke of Orinda, were retained by the city and they proposed that railroad and city share costs of sinking shafts to explore the state of the tunnel. The railroad indicated it had no curiosity and indeed it had by then already filed notice of its desire to abandon the tunnel together with 2.46 miles of track north from Fourth Street in San Rafael.

A subsequent engineering report spoke of alleged "refusal . . . to permit inspection" which brought angry objections from the railroad. The fact seems to be that though the railroad wouldn't share costs of exploration, and further pointed out that to dig from above would involve property rights of third parties, entry from one of the blocked ends—as proposed with reference to the Potrero Tunnel—was feasible but the city's engineers decided it would be easier and cheaper merely to estimate on a "pessimistic" presumption of tunnel condition.

Cost estimates on tunnel reconstruction came out surprisingly close. The railroad calculated a cost of $851,665 (though the private Morrison-Knudsen firm guessed $1,212,625) while the Jacob-Hawke cost estimate for the same type of steel-concrete work was $851,875.

But even abandonment would mean more problems and more exepnse.

Lawyers have been interested in legal problems of responsibility all along the line, applicable in both the Puerto Suello and the Potrero Tunnel burnings.

Basically the question centers about how much responsibility, if any, a railroad must assume following a disaster caused by somebody else.

The City of San Francisco has taken a militant view about the Potrero affair, caused by brush fire spreading to the tunnel, and in going ahead with work necessary to safeguard what is above the tunnel has threatened to sue the railroad. There was talk some time ago of water district suit because of the Puerto Suello disaster but much of this hangs in abeyance pending outcome of the abandonment proceedings.

However, the railroad did have to decide about damage to two roads and its decision was different because of differences as to time when the roads were constructed.

Some points of pertinence in this connection were brought out in the ICC hearings which started before Examiner F. Roy Linn in San Francisco last Jan. 25, and after four continuances were brought to termination on June 8.

During March, Southern Pacific maintenance engineer W. J. Jones said that if the railroad were allowed to abandon the tunnel he would suggest only a "plugged filling" of the southern portal to prevent subsidence, at a cost of $25,000.

Independent-Journal photos taken down a hole in the caved parts were produced to show probability of further cracking and Jones was asked by San Rafael attorney Boris H. Lakusta to assume that the railroad was wrong, "and it has the liability to prevent subsiding." Jones said he had estimated $300,000 cost for boring holes from above and putting sand or pea gravel in under pressure.

The Jacobs-Hawke cost estimate for all that must be done under abandonment totaled $301,640 including such items as street replacement.

But the ICC considers many things. Among these was testimony that if abandonment were allowed, the state might save as much as $597,900 in reconstruction of Highway 101 through San Rafael.

Other cost figures pro and con ran beyond easy computation. Some owners of business enterprises testified that if left entirely without rail service they must quit the county. Many testified that they were handicapped by lack of service from the north through the tunnel, even though rail points south of San Rafael continue to be served by Santa Fe-operated ferries taking cars from Tiburon.

Northwestern Pacific conceded that because of the weight and bulk of aggregates such as rock, sand and gravel, along with cement, this material can't be efficiently routed around the Bay and by ferry. To truck southward from the railhead north of San Rafael costs more, despite a price cut at the Healdsburg point of origin in which was temporary to relieve existing contracts.

Basic economic contentions brought out during the hearing differed vastly so far as the railroads were concerned. The Santa Fe Railroad claimed that it must lose a million dollars a year to its rival, the Southern Pacific (with which at one time it shared joint ownership of Northwestern Pacific) so long as the tunnel stays closed.

Southern Pacific contended that operation of the tunnel meant an overall loss to its system which includes NWP.

But so far as NWP itself is concerned, Hawk said that to rebuild the tunnel even at cost of $900,000 would yield annual return of 18.15 per cent on this cost. He said the line's own figures indicate that in 1960, for example, the railroad was $101,656 "better off" by having the tunnel.

Railroad spokesmen have consistently denied that tunnel abandonment would eventually lead to abandonment of all Marin County rail service.

But efforts already have been made to abandon the Sausalito branch and an ICC turndown only led to an appeal still pending. Nor has it been denied that the present situation led to such obvious deterioration of service as twice-weekly ferries to Tiburon rather than daily as before.

When will there be final official decision about abandonment? Nobody knows but it certainly will be a matter of months, probably years.

Even in the matter of briefs, the lawyers were given until next Monday to file. The examiner must study for a time, then make his recommendation. Then will come decision by the commission itself which may not follow the examiner's attitude—in the Sausalito abandonment matter the examiner recommended abandonment but the commission reversed his view.

If the tunnel decision goes against the railroad, precedent of its attitude on the Sausalito case would suggest that there will be appeal.

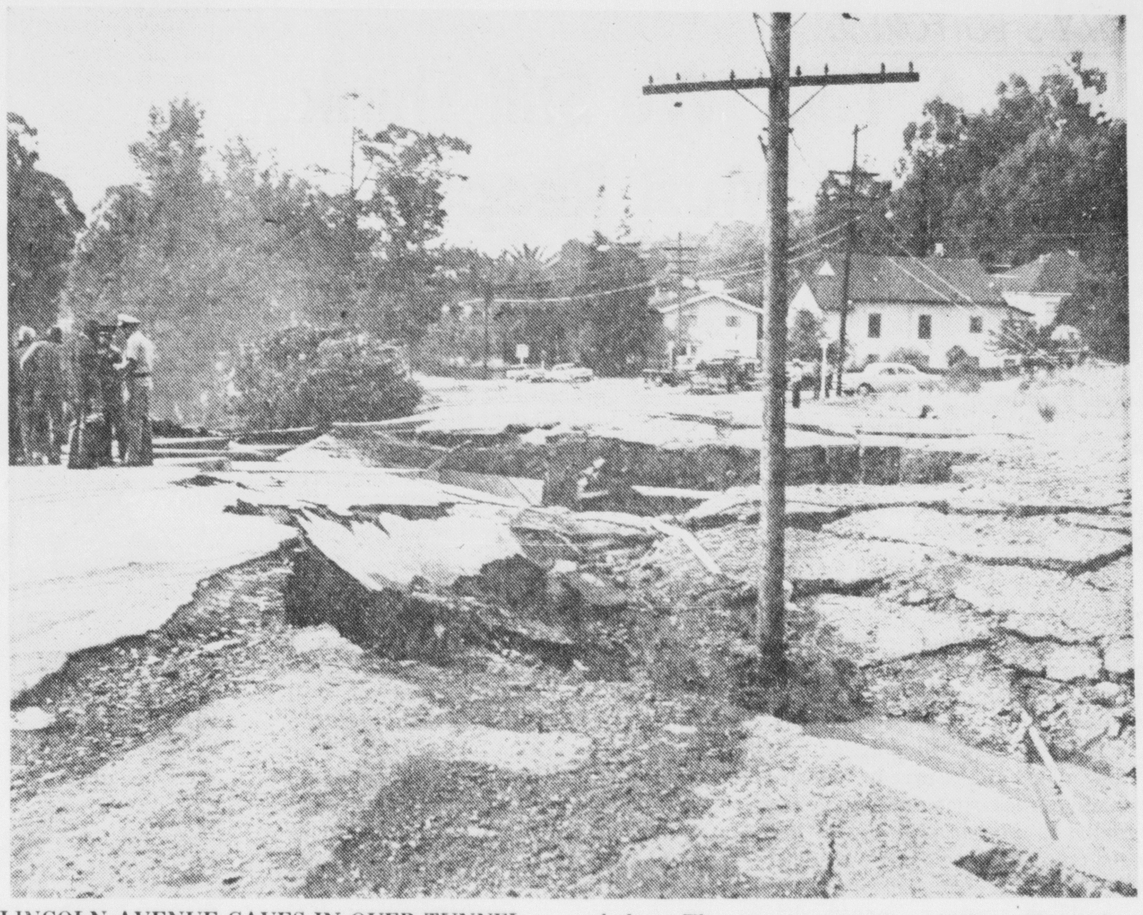

Finally, what of the two boys who started this whole affair?

There have been rumors that one or both is free. But latest check suggests otherwise.

The family of one moved to Sonoma County and the boy after coming under jurisdiction of the Sonoma court was turned over to the Youth Authority. Marin County probation chief Walter Busher says that eight months is about the average for the authority to keep a boy but in this case, he thinks the lad is still in custody.

Investigation of the other boy revealed strange conduct and hallucinations. It was concluded that he suffered from mental illness. This resulted in his being sent to a private center for treatment in Mendocino County, with Marin County footing the bills for his treatment.

Though it is thought possible that he has occasional short holidays at his Santa Venetia home, Busher says the June bill has been paid and one is expected for July. It's a small part of the price Marin County is paying overall.

NORTH PORTAL ABLAZE — Minutes before a slide of rocks and dirt shut off the north portal of Puerto Suello Tunnel a year ago today, San Rafael firemen and a railroad worker (leaning forward. in overalls) were risking their lives in a last effort to quench the fire. Flames, seen at top of the portal, had just appeared as result of a cave-in of Lincoln Avenue which admitted oxygen to the tunnel and caused the blaze to dart out through billowing smoke for the first time. After A Year We Still Think Rail Tunnel Must Reopen

Within a few hours, Lincoln Avenue collapsed into the tunnel section, carrying a fire truck and a fireman with it; one apartment house was destroyed by fire and collapse and a second apartment house was threatened so seriously it had to be abandoned.

Two young boys with nothing to do, had started five fires inside the tunnel. Two railroad employees, making an annual inspection of tunnels, came by just then and were able to put out four of them, but the fifth one burned on, and on, and on.

A small city park disappeared into the elongating hole as cave-in followed cave-in. Big trees shot downward into the ground as though a big gopher had fastened onto their roots and pulled.

Today little has changed from a year ago. The black smoke no longer curls from the cracks in the ground. Lincoln Avenue has been repaved over part of the hole.

But the rest is unchanged. The charred shell of one apartment house remains partly slid into the hole; the other building balances above. The dead trees stand where they were pulled. Huge squares of concrete that once were the roadway stand at crazy angles where they were left by bulldozers.

Most important of all, no trains run through the tunnel; few indeed, even reach San Rafael from the south. One of our lifelines of trade and commerce has been severed.

A year ago we predicted that Northwestern Pacific Railroad would be trying to pull their operations out of the county. It was vigorously denied by the railroad. They applied for abandonment of the tunnel, but insist they can serve Southern and Central Marin as well with ferries and trains as through the tunnel.

Many of our governmental agencies, including particularly the City of San Rafael, have been fighting a battle to retain the railroad as an important and necessary part of our community. The decision rests in the hands of an ICC examiner still studying the testimony.

We also have not changed. We reiterate our belief that the tunnel should be reopened and the railroad again give service to the businesses and the residents of Marin County.

TELEPHONE CHATS BY THE MILLION

A million telephone conversations may evenutally be transmitted over a single beam of light, according to scientists now conducting experiments.

They have developed a device, called an optical maser, over which the million messages can be sent.

But problems have arisen. At first, the beam worked only in flashes. And the vibrations kept changing the frequency of the beam.

The scientists have eliminated these difficulties and now are much closer to their goal, which would mark a big forward step in the field of communications.

While rejoicing in scientific progress, do what you can to see that man is more concerned with the quality of the ideas that he puts into circulation than merely with their quantity.

You can, for instance, make sure that even your telephone conversations reflect the nobler side of your nature. You will thereby be helping to put to good as well as wide use some of the fantastic power that the Creator has hidden in nature.

If You're Troubled By Warts Travel To Townsend, Tenn.

TOWNSEND, Tenn. (AP)—"I guess hundreds of people have been here to get their warts taken off," said the old lady of the hills, folding her gnarled hands in placid pride.

Della Effler, 69, and her husband, "Barefoot Jerry," 71, operate a small grocery store here at the edge of the great Smoky Mountains.

They charge for the groceries, but Della, one of the dwindling human storehouses of old time mountain medicine, dispenses freely her cures for what ails you.

Her reputation is based on her ability to get rid of warts, and there are those who dwell here in these eternal hills who swear that nobody this side of kingdom come can eradicate warts better.

"It's not me that takes them off," said Mrs. Effler. "It's the good Lord that does it.

"Nobody taught me how to get rid of warts. It just come into my mind."

Her recipe is her own secret.

But she is profoundly certain the warts will come back if the patient tries to pay her, thank her—or discloses the form of treatment.

Aside from her wart cure, Mrs. Effler is quite willing to discuss folk remedies that have been handed down in the mountains from generation to generation.

"The best medicine you can give a child," she remarked, "is to wrap an onion in a wet rag, let it cook in the ashes, then strain the juice, mix it with sugar and give it to the baby.

"It will put a child to sleep or cure it of a cold or the hives."

Mrs. Effler has great faith in the remedial powers of plants and trees.

"Chew ginseng root for the nerves," she said. "Or boil it and chop it up to help a baby with the colic.

"For earache," continued Aunt Della, "you take a stick off an ash tree, put it in the fire, catch the juice as it bubbles—and put it in the young'un's ear. Hot coffee in the ear is good, too."

MRS. EFFLER said the juice of "queen of the meadow," a local plant, is good for the kidneys. For treating asthma in childhood, she advised:

"Cut a sourwood switch the exact height of the child, hide it where nobody will see it and where it can get wet—and as the child outgrows the stick, she'll get well."

PHYSICIANS might question the efficacy of some of Aunt Della's and Barefoot Jerry's home remedies, but they couldn't well quarrel with the Effler family health record.

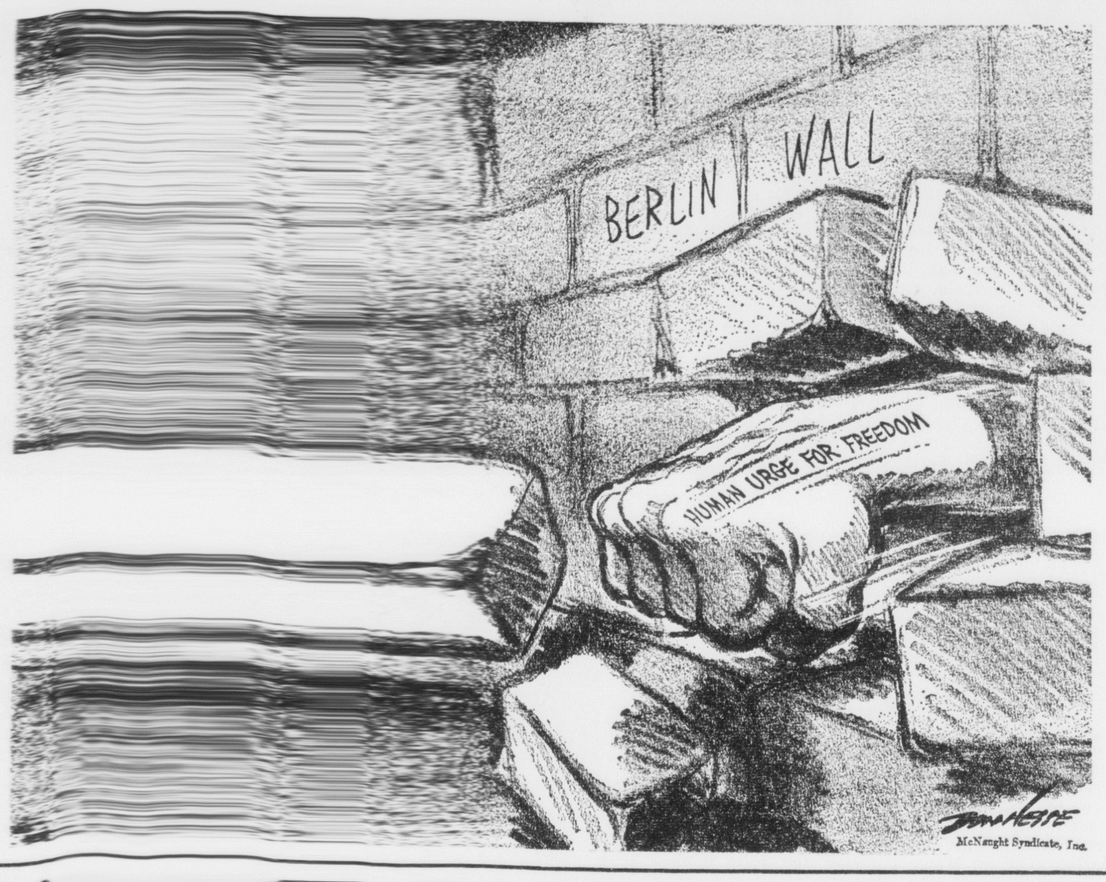

The Efflers have been married 52 years. They raised eight of their nine children. And they have 49 grandchildren and 12 great-grandchildren.

WHAT OUR READERS SAY

Law Is Made By Custom

EDITOR,
Independent-Journal:

In our comment on my letter regarding the Supreme Court's prayer in public school decision, you say that you cannot agree that the proper way for the public to change law is by lawlessness.

This is sheer question-begging.

The point I made is that immemorial custom IS law (Blackstone and many other legal authorities agree), that practices such as that declared illegal by the court has been sanctified by the people of the U.S. for so many years that it has the force of law, and that changing, modifying or amending the law is the proper function of our legislative bodies, not that of the courts.

General Praises Reserve Unit

EDITOR,
Independent-Journal:

The 94th Quartermaster Platoon (Pipeline Operations) of San Rafael reported to Fort Lee, Virginia, in October, 1961, for active duty in connection with the recall of reserve and national guard units by the President of the United States and the command-in-chief of our armed forces.

I have read and heard much about the attitudes of these fine soldiers (some of whom were returning for the third time to serve their country) regarding why they should make this sacrifice while others could pursue their business as usual. Not all of this has been compliments to these fine Americans.

I am retired from active military service after spending nearly 34 years as an officer of the United States Army. I feel that I would be derelict in my duty if I did not call attention to certain facts I have learned from personal observations. As a grandfather of seven, I also want to speak to you as a fellow-citizen with a personal stake in our nation's future.

To say none of these men griped, wrote to their elected representatives, or aired their gripes to receptive newspaper reporters would be naive. As free born Americans they were practicing the privileges that we, their leaders, teach them are guaranteed under our Constitution.

The important fact is that they did serve, and they served well. I saw them in the dead of winter, living in the field under conditions I was glad I didn't have to face. They were performing on a level with the best professional soldiers.

They were well led, too. Again I speak from personal observation and deep knowledge of their leadership. I would place their officers and non-commissioned officers on a par with the best professional officers of any army it has ever been my privilege to observe.

To you, their fellow townsmen, I commend their service. My seven months in command of them has reinforced my belief in the American system. If these men are average Americans, we have a great pool of strength to call upon if a greater need ever arises.

To you, their employers, realize that their absence may have been costly, but that their presence in uniform may have made it possible for you to proceed about your business without undue interference.

From my personal observations of but a small segment—about 3,500—of the total recalled personnel, I am convinced that our basic system worked and that it will work in the future. It can be adjusted and refined, but basically it is sound.

No Excuse For Hollis' Politicking

EDITOR,
Independent-Journal:

Don't you feel just a bit foolish in being victimized by the amateur politicking of Virgil Hollis?

Perhaps the understandable desire to score a scoop over all the other papers in the state excuses your publicizing his erroneous private tabulation of votes in the state superintendent of schools election.

But is there any excuse for the Marin County superintendent's preoccupation? Does he spend his official time and his secretary's time to poll the county clerks of the state by letter and long distance phone?

Does this activity help Mr. Hollis provide educational leadership in our county?

BENNETT CERF

The late Albert Einstein was not the one to bother his head with the mazes of modern finance. No sooner did he arrive in America than he was persuaded by an unscrupulous broker to put all his savings—some $22,000—into a list of veritable "cats and dogs." An indignant friend made him sell them at once, and undertook to reinvest the funds in gilt-edged securities.

For 20 years Dr. Einstein never questioned him once about his holdings. Then the friend informed him that the securities had vaulted to a market value of over $200,000! "Listen," Dr. Einstein inturrupted him crossly. "I don't bother you about relativity. Don't you bother me about stocks and bonds!"

Samuel Pepys, whose diaries faithfully reported London goings-on in the late 17th century, and have been required reading for college students ever since, reflect a dim view of the plays of William Shakespeare.

Of "A Midsummer Night's Dream," Pepys wrote, "This is the most insipid, ridiculous play I ever saw in my life." He called "Romeo and Juliet," "The very worst play that ever I heard," and dismissed "Twelfth Night" as "silly." In fairness to Mr. Pepys, points out drama critic George Oppenheimer, he did admit he enjoyed "Hamlet."

Loose Talk, Even In A Metaphor, Sometimes Is Easily Misunderstood

People in this brick-throwing business, prone to overdramatize particularly about things affecting themselves, have to be careful how they talk, even in asides.

The other 12:15 p.m. or so Corte Madera Police Chief Frank Nelson phoned me at my job:

"A man just called and said you told him you had a gun at your head."

Sure enough, I had said that. The man had called on a matter of advertising and I replied that Catharine Robson, the Corte Madera ad lady, was out to lunch and in answering the phone I had interrupted myself while teletyping a story to the city room at deadline and I thus had a gun at my head.

I've been using this "gun at my head" metaphor for years. This is the first time it made a report to police. I guess I have to learn to talk more like a square. I'm still blushing.

TIA'S COFFEE SHOP and Gallery in Corte Madera is taking what revenge it can against customers who've viewed numerous showings and cracked, "Oh, my four-year-old kid could paint better than that" or "My cat could make more decorative marks than those blobs."

Owners Sid Carson and Marin Grimstead have hung what they call a chicken proclamation on the wall to make critics put up or shut up. Anyone not entering a creation of his own in the current exhibit of customer's paintings and art in the round has to sign the big chicken in the picture.

THE TOWN of Corte Madera is almost out of those town seals decals that look like the Pepsi Cola trademark. You've seen them on trucks, etc. Come the last of these decals and the council will seek a new, beautiful, municipal-looking, Marin-like town seal.

AT A SOIREE of the Anti-Digit Dialing League in the No Name in Sausalito about a month ago, I won a bottle of bourbon, which I understand is a high-class painkiller. One Neil Davis is supposed to deliver it.

That's not the item. The thing is that all things being equal, I'll not be knowing what the stuff tastes like. The firewater will join other booze I bought in 1955 or 1956 while still in a four-year exile in New York. I serve it to people who can guzzle it without crawling up the wall.

I had my last drink 14 years ago this week, at about 10 a.m. PDT Monday, July 19, 1948, in the locker area of the editorial department of the Oakland Tribune. From a half-pint bottle I then threw in a wastebasket.

About this time, or rather three days later, the management finally took umbrage and fired me for having been off the job for two weeks in June. I was a guy who liked to baby his hangovers.

So the jug of bourbon will be a pleasant addition to the home bar, but none for me, thanks. The Oakland shop was only one of several papers and press services in San Francisco, Chicago, etc., that I left under forced draft. The Chicago Herald-American hired and fired me twice in six months in 1946-47.

This kind of thing got monotonous. A change of diet didn't seem unreasonable.

Arguments For A Tax Cut Now Powerful If Politics Is Ignored

WASHINGTON — On the question of a tax cut, with which the President is now wrestling, the undecided issue is whether to ask for it this summer or to wait until next winter. The issue is as yet undecided for one reason only. There is some doubt whether, in the few weeks that are left before adjournment, the chairmen of the two key committees, Rep. Mills and Sen. Byrd, will allow Congress to vote.

The significant thing about their veto is that almost certainly the two chairmen will not have it next winter. By that time, if, as it now seems probable, our sluggish economy has begun to recede, tax reduction will go through Congress by acclamation.

The chance of a Mills-Byrd veto this summer, which is what causes the President to hesitate, is primarily due to the fact that as yet recession is only indicated and is not yet being experienced.

CAN THE PRESIDENT induce Congress to act to prevent a recession, or are we doomed to wait for a recession and then try to reverse it?

Since the Wall Street crash at the end of May, there has been a sharp and rapid change of responsible and expert opinion. The crash alerted those who watched the economy, causing them to ask whether the Kennedy recovery of 1961 was going to peter out before it went much further. There had been a few who had predicted this last January when the administration, using what had proved to be erroneously optimistic estimates, adopted a restrictive and deflationary fiscal policy.

THE UNFOUNDED optimism ended a few days after the crash. The business reports which have come in during June and the first half of July show that with a few exceptions, automobile sales and residential construction, the recovery is sluggish and is slowing down.

Employment and industrial activity, profits, inventory replacement, and capital investment are so sluggish that the recovery appears to be nearing its end. It would seem that by the onset of winter there will be a recession.

Prof. Samuelson says that the peak of total profits was in fact reached at the end of last year and that the rate of unemployment, which has never gone below 5.4 per cent, will from now on be rising.

WE ARE NOT, let us repeat, as yet in a recession. But we are on the verge of one. This is the critically important time for the government to act in order to stimulate the expansion of economic activity. The longer it waits, the stronger will the medicine have to be.

It has already waited six months too long, and so it will need to use stronger medicine today than it would have needed last January. If it waits until the recession has actually begun, the chances are that the comparatively agreeable medicine of a tax cut will not be enough, and will need to be supplemented by more government spending.

THE REASON for this is not complicated and it is of great significance to the question of whether to cut taxes now or to wait six months. The immediate effect of a tax cut is to stimulate consumer buying.

If this takes place when industry is working somewhere near full capacity, the consumer demand will stimulate industry to modernize and enlarge its plant. This capital spending will sustain the recovery.

On the other hand, if the recession is on, with unemployment rising, with plant utilization declining, the additional consumer purchases will not tend to stimulate capital investment. If the recession is bad, it may take very drastic measures to overcome it.

On the merits, therefore, and ignoring all the political consequences, the case for acting at once is a powerful one.

Perhaps West was lucky in leading a spade against Don's contract of four hearts. With any other lead, declarer could have developed the diamonds to discard a spade from his hand on dummy's third diamond.

KING COMES UP

"I put up dummy's queen of spades," Don told me, "but the king came up, and I had to take the ace. Now I looked at both opponents very sneakily and led the jack of hearts. You see the plot?"

I nodded without bothering to tell Don that ethical players don't try to make a contract by looking sneaky.

AVOIDS TRAP

"West had the king of hearts halfway out of his hand," Don continued. "But at the last moment he gave me a peculiar look and played the low heart. What miserable luck."

My doleful friend will never know why West gave him that peculiar look. West was tempted to put up the king of hearts but took another look at who was playing the hand and decided that Don didn't have the nerve to lead the jack of hearts from a suit headed by ace-jack.

WEST RIGHT

West decided that his partner had the ace of hearts, and he was right. What was so lucky about making a sensible decision?

Actually, East and West were lucky, but not the way Doleful Don meant it. They were lucky the hand was played by him instead of by some sensible declarer.

After winning the first spade, south should run four rounds of clubs, discarding two spades from the dummy. If an opponent ruffs the fourth club with a low trump, the ace and king of trumps will fall together.

ALMANAC

Today is Friday, July 20, the 201st day of 1962 with 164 to follow.

The morning stars are Mars, Jupiter and Saturn.

The evening stars are Venus and Saturn.

On this day in history:

In 1859, baseball fans were charged an admission fee for the frist time. Some 1,500 spectators paid 50-cents to see Brooklyn play New York.

In 1945, the flag of the United States was raised over Berlin as the first American troops prepared to occupy the city.

A thought for the day: English playwright George Bernard Shaw said: "The more things a man is ashamed of, the more respectable he is."

KEEP YOUR CHIN UP

When Columbia Studios needed an exceptionally hefty young lady for a comedy role with Danny Kaye in "The Man From the Diners' Club," they signed 32-year-old June Smaney, who weighs 275 pounds. Here's how she looks doing a open-armed chin-up for her scene in a weight-reducing club. The prop department lent a helping hand with a concealed piano wire attached to a pully in the rafters and a harness under June's sweat shirt. (AP Wirephoto)

Art Festival Plans Start In Mill Valley

Plans to make the annual Mill Valley fall arts festival a show place for talented artists, dancers and musicians in Marin County were formulated this week when approximately 20 persons gathered to discuss the October event.

For the first time, the show, scheduled Oct. 12-14, will feature a competitive gallery where artists may enter paintings for judging.

"It's surprising how much talent there is in the hills," said John Little, festival committee member. "We're trying to lure it out."

As in past years, artists may also rent panels where they are expected to be present to show the work they have hung. Dancing exhibitions and musical performances will be featured during the festival, to be held in Old Mill Park, which will be specially wired for night-time lighting.

Mrs. Leland Shain and Mrs. Robert O'Connor, both of Mill Valley, were elected co-chairmen of the festival. Other officers are: Mrs. Alvin Baukol, treasurer; Leland Shain, recording secretary; Mrs. William Searles, corresponding secretary. Committee heads are: Herman Hein, decorations; Paul Lessig, promotion; Thomas Collison, program; Mrs. Thomas Collison, art, and Little, membership.

A-Protest Doctor Plans To Visit Home

Dr. Monte G. Steadman, skipper of the nuclear protest ketch Everyman II, plans to visit his home in Corte Madera soon, his family said today.

Steadman, 41, of 100 Edison Avenue, was released from jail in Honolulu on $600 bail Wednesday to visit his father, who is ill in Wrightwood, San Bernardino County.

His daughter Marsha, 12, said Steadman phoned his home yesterday and said he hoped to visit home "for a few days to a week," but he wasn't exactly sure when.

Steadman, head of the eye, ear, nose and throat clinic at Kaiser Foundation Hospital in San Francisco, was found in contempt of court for sailing into the Pacific nuclear testing zone. He refused to pay a $600 fine and went to jail.

When he heard of his father's illness he notified Federal Judge Martin Pence in Honolulu and was freed on bail equivalent to the fine.

Two crew members, C. George Benello of Berkeley and Franklin Zahn of Pomono, were still in jail in lieu of $200 bail apiece.

PACIFISTS SENTENCED TO JAIL TERMS

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Six pacifists arrested last month for demonstrating at the main post office against nuclear testing were sentenced yesterday by U. S. Commissioner Donald B. Constine.

Riley J. Turner, 18, San Francisco; Hazel Sultan, 20, Richmond, and Forrest Peter, 23, and Don Auclair, 22, both of Oakland, turned down probation and were sentenced to five days in jail.

William Strolberg, 20, and Dennis Crain, 19, both of San Francisco, were placed on probation for one year.

They joined demonstrations against the arrest of three crewmen of Everyman I who had tried to sail to the U.S. Pacific nuclear test zone.

Firemen's Barbecue Set At Nicasio

Nicasio Volunteer Fire Department's 16th annual barbecue and bill will be held tomorrow at Rancho Nicasio.

The day-long celebration will start at 10:30 a.m. with a Little League baseball game between Nicasio and Petaluma teams. A softball double-header is scheduled for 1 p.m.

Serving of the chicken barbecue will start at 7 p.m. It will be followed by a fashion show at 9 p.m., with the dance starting at the same hour. Jack Barnes' Orchestra will furnish dance music.

Proceeds of the event go to maintain the department, which was organized in 1947, said William Irving, fire chief.

SANTA ROSA—An 18-year-old Santa Rosa girl, Vivian Lee Vice, was crowned the Future Farmer of America Sweetheart at the Sonoma County Fair last night.

She won over a field including two Marin County candidates, Diane Zimmerman and Patty Valena of Tomales.

A graduate of Santa Rosa High School. Vivian plans to major in mathematics at the University of California.

New Dress Shop To Open At Kentfield

A new women's apparel shop will be opened at 943 Sir Francis Drake Boulevard, Kentfield, during the first week in August. It will be known as Michelle Craig of Kentfield.

Owners of the new store, Mr. and Mrs. William Belfor, 246 Elvia Court, Marinwood, also own and operate the Sample Shoppe in San Rafael. Mrs. Belfor said, however, that the Kentfield shop will handle higher quality dresses and sportswear.

The location was formerly a private home, and is being rebuilt into an English-type structure with off-street parking. The name of the store was taken from the names of the Belfors' two oldest children.

Thief Leaves Blood Behind

Money, checks and a stock certificate were stolen from the Family Service Agency of Marin at 1010 B Street, San Rafael, by a thief who left some blood behind.

Nicholas Suntzeff, manager of the agency, reported yesterday that $31 in cash, 10 or 12 unendorsed checks and a stock certificate had been stolen sometime Wednesday night.

Three drawers of the filing cabinet and the office door had been pried open with a sharp pointed flat instrument, police said. Blood, apparently from the thief who cut himself, was found on the inside of the third drawer of the filing cabinet.

Suntzeff said two agency employes had locked the filing cabinet before leaving work late Wednesday afternoon.

Though the theft was discovered yesterday morning, it was not reported to police until afternoon.

Must Give Horse Some Leg Room

If you want to keep a horse in the San Geronimo Valley you'll have to give him space to stretch his legs.

The space is likely to be a minimum of half an acre, according to recommendations of the San Geronimo Valley Horsemen's Assn. presented last night to a meeting of the San Geronimo Valley Master Plan Committee.

Committee members agreed that if a horse is to be kept in a single-family residential district, even in this "horsey" area it still should be necessary to obtain a use permit and this should be subject to a requirement of 20,000 square feet.

There should also be a top limit of three horses which would mean an area of about an acre and a half.

County Planning Director B. D. Dobbs agreed to draft an amendment to the zoning ordinance to this effect.

Consideration was given to commercial areas and committee members had made contact with businessmen in accordance with agreement at the last meeting. It developed that more information and larger maps were desired so decision as to business limits was deferred.

Rec Program Slashed By Twin Cities Unit

The Larkspur-Corte Madera Joint Recreation Commission last night slashed 11 weeks a year from his programs as result of failure to get the funds it had asked.

The summer program for 600 children was cut from eight weeks to six. Fall, winter and spring programs each will be cut to from 13 weeks to 10.

The commission acted after being unofficially assured of only $8,500 from Larkspur and Corte Madera, each city budgeting $4,250 in fiscal 1963. The Larkspur School District has unofficially notified the commission it will still make school facilities available but will contribute no cash. Last year the district contributed $1,700.

Even with the reduced program the commission is still $2,000 short of its needs, said Commissioner P. Kamai of Corte Madera. He added:

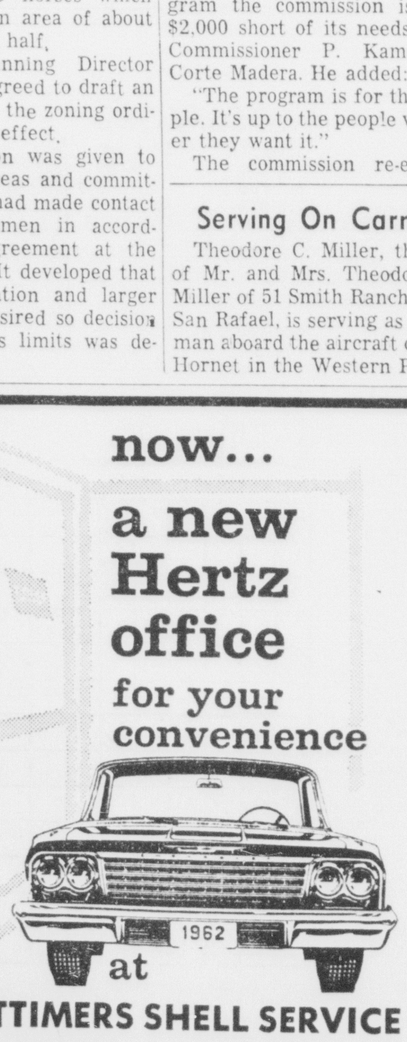

"The program is for the people. It's up to the people whether they want it."

The commission re-elected its officers, chairman Albert E. Kogler, treasurer Roy Davis, and secretary Ruth Stephenson. John W. Boyd was named Larkspur School District board representative, replacing M. K. Taylor, whose commission term had expired.

United States And USSR Track Stars Meet Tomorrow

COMBINED AP & UPI

The long awaited big track meet between the United States stars and the best cindermen from Russia gets under way tomorrow at Stanford Stadium in what may be the best match ever between the two powers.

Coach John Oelkers of the United States track and field team predicted today that 10 and possibly 11 men's world records are in jeopardy.

He stoutly defended an earlier statement that this is the best United States team ever to go into this international competition, saying:

"A world record is possible in every field event except the javelin and hop-step-and-jump, and the Russian javelin thrower (Janis Lusis) could get one out far enough for a mark (284-7)."

This leaves possible world field event records in the pole vault, broad jump, shot put, hammer throw, and discus throw.

"In track, I think world records are possible in the 1,600 meter relay, 200-meter dash, 110-meter hurdles and 400-meter relay," Oelkers continued.

There also is a possibility for a world mark in the decathlon as Russia's Vasiliy Kuznesov and Yuriy Kutenko rank as two of the world's best.

Oelkers said Max Truex, the former University of Southern California star, definitely would run in the 10,000 meters. There had been speculation he would go in the 5,000 instead. The U.S. coach made his decision well before today's noon deadline for entries.

Asked about his statement that this squad is the strongest fielded in three years' competition against the Russians (in which the U.S. men have won all three), Oelkers said:

"The Russians tell us they have their finest team and I am sure we can beat them. Therefore, this must be our best team."

Ter-Ovanesyan's pending world record of 27 feet 3 inches will erase Boston's 27-1¾, yet the Russian never has outjumped the American in four head-and-head meetings.

Three times in meets and once in the 1960 Olympics Boston was victorious. And the U.S. men have beaten the Russians in all three of their previous international team meetings.

Competing in the two-day meet will be 13 world record holders or pending record holders. Seven are men, six women. Four of the men are Yanks, but only one U.S. gal made the women's list—sprinter Wilma Rudolph Ward, heroine of the 1960 Olympics.

Uncle Sam's fellows rate as choices, again, but by not much margin while the Russian women are strong favorites.

"I feel stronger than I have all year," declared Boston on arriving here yesterday from Tennessee A&I. "Early this season I had a bruised heel, chipped bone in my ankle and pulled hamstring muscle. So I never have reached a peak."

"I am not happy," he says but adds significantly that he wouldn't be surprised to see a new world record here.

"Stanford is a lucky place for me because it is at the same parallel of the earth as Yerevan (Armenia) where I set the record.

The broad jumper is one of the few on the team who speak English. He and Boston have been friends since their first meeting, in 1958.

"I think these meets are good for everyone concerned," Boston asserted. "They make for better people-to-people relationship . . ."

The long range forecast was for fair weather for the two-day conclave in which the nations will be clashing for the fourth time. About 75,000 are expected at Stanford Stadium each afternoon as the United States men try to make it four straight over the Soviets while the USSR women aim to do the same thing to the slighter American females.

The meet will be televised nationally tomorrow from 7:30-8:30 p.m. (EDT) and on Sunday from 5 p.m.-9 p.m. (EDT). There is a 150-mile blackout in the San Francisco area.

Giants Play Like They're Tired, But They're Still Quite Alive

CONNOLLY

Nothing seems to go right for the S.F. Giants when the team is in a batting slump. Pitchers seem to get off stride, fielding suffers and a general letdown occurs.

Orlando "Shapiro" Cepeda, on a radio interview, gave a frank and earnest reply when asked about his slump when he said: "I'm just tired, Lom. All over. Mebbe play too much winter ball."

Cepeda, known to his teammates as "Shapiro," isn't alone on the Sominex trail. A half dozen of his teammates play like they are tired, too. Whether it is from the pressure of chasing the Dodgers or the result of over anxiousness is hard to determine. Some are so cruel as to say they are being overmanaged.

Be that as it may, you still can't count them out and more-so than ever since Sandy Koufax is on the disabled list. The Dodgers, without Koufax, are hurting real bad, for their shortage of pitching talent is as acute as it is with the Giants.

Juan Marichal, Stu Miller, Jack Sanford, Billy O'Dell, Mike McCormick and Bob Bolin have been trying to carry the load since Billy Pierce became disabled. They've done well at times and on other occasions performed like a sorry bunch of pro performers.

STU MILLER, who had a fantastic year in 1961, is way off color.

When O'Dell is pitching, the power hitters are short circuited. If another southpaw relief hurler was around, Pierce wouldn't be missed so much. Billy will be back soon and I hope it doesn't take him as long to get into condition as it did at the start of the year.

Jack Sanford, like some of his teammate pitchers, gets winded if he has to run the bases.

OF ALL the pitching candidates, young Bob Garibaldi stands the best chance of becoming a starter. He earned it to date as a reliever. And Garibaldi has sparked the club, something they really need.

It is hoped that Garibaldi will get a chance to go the full distance with the Giants. If he makes it, the shakeup and effect it might have on the others might be tremendous.

IF YOU'VE never been in athletics, you can't begin to know how the pressure mounts starting out. So far the young Santa Clara phenom has stood it off and I'm inclined to believe he has a good chance of standing it off and doing the Giants some real good .

San Franciscans go all out for Italian athletes. The likes of the late Ping Bodie, Joe Di Maggio and oh, so many others, still lingers on. Now that Garibaldi is here, watch him fill Candlestick Park.

Clay, Lavorante Battle Tonight

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Two "futures" in the heavyweight boxing picture, unbeaten Cassius Clay of Louisville, Ky., and Argentina's Adejandro Lavorante, tangle in a 10-round match in the Sports Arena tonight.

The contest will not be televised or broadcast.

For days the fight mob has debated the merits of the pair and the possible outcome. The price today is even money but the 20-year-old Clay may enter the ring a slight favorite.

Dark Horse Golfer Surprise Leader In PGA First Round

Independent-Journal Sports
Friday, July 20, 11

NEWTOWN SQUARE, Pa. (UPI)—Big John Barnum, whose name never had been in the golfing headlines, led the field going into the second round of the PGA championship today —two strokes ahead of former champion Chick Harbert and five in front of favored Arnold Palmer and U.S. Open king Jack Nicklaus.

"I'm not too sure I'll stay ahead of them," said the six foot, three-inch 225-pounder from Belmont, Mich., who toured the 7,045-yard Aronimink golf course yesterday in a course record 66, four under par. "After all, I've never won anything to speak about before."

The 50-year-old pro, three years older than the second-place Harbert, broke the record for the 7,045-yard, 35-35—70 par Aronomink golf course with his 32-34—66 before a record PGA gallery of 17,000.

He was playing in a three-some behind Palmer, Nicklaus and Dave Marr. That trio had the crowd, but Barnum played the golf.

Not once did he go over par as he carded four birdies and 14 pars. That 66 was two strokes better than the 32-36—68 turned in by Harbert, who

Classic Race Shaping Up As Giants Invade Pitt Tonight

PITTSBURGH (UPI)—A couple of bad breaks turned out to be good ones for the San Francisco Giants and as a result they were back within one game of the National League lead today.

In a rugged game at Milwaukee yesterday, starter Mike McCormick was belted on the left forearm by a batted ball and Charlie Hiller was crunched on the right shoulder by a pitch. Both had to leave the game but their replacements, Bob Bolin and Ernie Bowman, helped lead San Francisco to a 7-3 win.

The Giants hoped that lady luck was still with them as they invaded the lair of the red hot Pittsburgh Pirates here tonight. Jack Sanford (11-6) was set to battle the Pirates' recuperated Vern Law (8-4) in a battle of right-handers.

The Giants' win over Milwaukee moved them to within a game of Los Angeles, which was nudged by Cincinnati. But coming on like gang-busters are the Pirates, who swept a double-header at New York yesterday. Pittsburgh is but 2½ games out of first as a classic three-team race takes form.

McCormick was sailing along in rocky fashion yesterday at Milwaukee when he was plunked on the arm.

Hank Aaron and Lee Maye homered and it was 3-1 Milwaukee after four. It was in the fourth that McCormick was retired and Don Larsen mopped up.

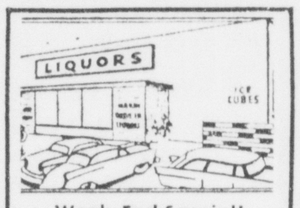

Bolin then took over and the Braves were never heard from again. They collected but two scratch hits off the flame-throwing Bolin, who picked up his fifth win without a setback.

As for McCormick, he was not badly hurt and will be ready to start when his turn comes up again.

The Giants started climbing back into the game when Willie Mays whacked his 26th homer in the fourth. Milwaukee starter Denver Demaster had retired 11 straight batters up to then.

Orlando Cepeda followed Mays to the plate and was out on a close play at first. He protested long and loud and was tossed out of the contest.

The Giants knotted the count in the fifth. A single, walk, and Hiller's getting hit on the shoulder loaded the bases and Jose Pagan singled in two runs. Hiller was also expected to be all right for tonight's contest.

Palmer, Nicklaus Five Strokes Down In PGA

won this one back in 1954 and whose round tied the former course record set last month by Bob Nichols and Marty Furgol in a pro-am tournament.

Three strokes behind Barnum came big George Bayer, Bob Goalby, Doug Ford and Frank Stranahan, all with one under par 69's. At even par 70 were Don January, who lost this title last year in a playoff with Jerry Barber; long hitting Paul Harney, Joe Campbell, Dick Hart and Leo Biagetti.

In the group at 71 along with Palmer and Nicklaus were Marr, Johnny Pott, Furgol and Bob Gajda.

Barber soared to a 79. Former Masters champions Art Wall and Gary Player, former U.S. Open king Tommy Bolt and former PGA titleholder Walter Burkemo were among those grouped at 72.

While the "name" players did not burn up the course, Barnum did.

"My irons were splendid," he said.

That they were. He split the pins with his short irons and three of his four birdie putts were from four feet or less. The other was from 25.

Harbert, who said he came here "only for the ride," caught fire when he sank a 35-foot shot from a sand trap on the third hole and a 45-foot chip on the fourth.

"I realized then I may be here a little longer than I planned," he said.

But while Barnum was stealing the headlines, Palmer, the 2 to 1 favorite, and Nicklaus, the second choice at 3 to 1, drew the major portion of the record breaking gallery.

Palmer wasn't at all happy.

"My own game wasn't too bad," he said. "But I felt sorry for Dave (Marr). After Jack and I putted out, the fans would start running for the next tee, and how could Dave concentrate with all that scurrying going on."

Palmer also complained that his first round was played "like being in a movie house" because the press photographers stayed so close to them.

"On the sixth hole," he said, "one of those photographers asked me to move so he could get a shot of Nicklaus' putt. And he almost got this," doubling his fingers in a menacing fist.

MAJOR LEAGUE ROUNDUP

Pirates Up To Old Tricks In Rush Toward N.L. Lead

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

It is beginning to look like 1960 all over again for the aroused Pittsburgh Pirates. By winning 22 of their last 27 games, the Pirates have pulled within 2½ games of the league-leading Los Angeles Dodgers.

Danny Murtaugh is using the same old reliable formula: Scramble. Never quit. Wait for the late inning home run. Then call for little Elroy Face.

Dick Stuart hit the home run and two singles, too, in the Pirates' 5-1 first-game victory last night over the New York Mets. Bob Skinner contributed the game-winning homer in the 10th inning of the Pirates' 7-6 second-game victory. Bill Mazeroski, the hero of '60, hit a homer in each game.

The double victory enabled the Pirates to gain ground on both the Dodgers and the second-place Giants. When the Dodgers lost to Cincinnati 4-3, their lead shrunk to one game over San Francisco, a 7-3 winner over Milwaukee.

St. Louis also picked up a game on the Dodgers, but still trailed by 8½ in fourth place after shading Chicago 5-4.

YANKEES WIN

In the American League, the New York Yankees battered Boston 10-6 but the Los Angeles Angels remained 3½ games back by handing Detroit its seventh straight defeat 2-1. Minnesota took over third place from Cleveland by blanking the Indians 8-0. Baltimore bombed Kansas City 7-3. Chicago and Washington were not scheduled.

The first Pirate victory was a breeze for Bob Friend, who threw a five-hitter. But the second was a different story, despite a four-run Pirate spurt against loser Jay Hook in the second inning.

Pittsburgh came from behind twice to tie it up before Skinner settled matters with his home run into the left field stands leading off the 10th. Face, who took over in the ninth, won his seventh.

The Dodgers took a 3-2 lead into the ninth, but relief man Ron Perranoski couldn't hold it. Manager Walter Alston called for Perranoski after starter Johnny Podres walked the leadoff man in the ninth. Don Blasingame's sacrifice and a single by Don Zimmer tied the score. Eddie Kasko's triple with two out won it for Bill Henry.

CATCHER'S WOES

Three passed balls by catcher Dick Bertell in the same inning gave the Cards their tie-breaking run in the seventh against the Cubs. Fred Whitfield struck out for what should have been the final out, but reached base safely on the first passed ball as Bertell was having trouble handling Barney Schultz' knuckler. Whitfield, attempting to steal, when all the way to third on the second passed ball and scored on the third.

Ray Sadecki won in relief over Schultz. Lou Brock and Ron Santo homered for the Cubs, both off starter Ernie Broglio.

How Russ Athletes Succeed

STANFORD (UPI)—The translator listened to the flow of Russian phrases carefully and then said to the assembled reporters:

"A pedagogical process of education, training and raising the functional possibilities of the sportsman in the conditions of a correct hygienic regime and under thorough medical and pedagogic control."

What he meant was:

"Now go out there and win!"

The first translation was necessary because the speaker, Prof. Nikolai Ozolin, honorary trainer for the Russian track team, does not speak English.

OBJECT: WIN!

But through his translator, he did get across the idea that the object was to win championships.

"The success of the Soviet sportsmen did not appear suddenly out of a blue sky," Ozolin said at a news conference prior to the weekend track and field meet between the USSR and the U.S.A.

"It was the logical outcome of the systematic development of sports in the Soviet Union in the course of four decades. The government provided the conditions for the development of sports on a mass basis."

Ozolin listed three other factos as playing a large part in the rise of the USSR in the world of athletics. They were: A mass interest in athletics, a "well-elaborated and scientifically grounded system of sports training," and application of the best techniques they could find abroad.

For the latter, he cited the winning methods of America's Mike Murphy, trainer of the U.S. Olympic track team in 1912. His methods are still used in the USSR.

Ozolin detailed the basic steps required of all Soviet athletes during their 11-month training year. They included two-hour daily training sessions, 30 to 40 minutes per day of individual exercise and plenty of competition, spurred on by titles and gold medals for achievement.

Ozolin, 56, who held the European pole vault championship at the age of 44 and at an undisclosed height, claims to have driven his car less than 1,000 miles in the past two years.

He had some advice for Americans:

"Walk more and drive less. It is unhealthy for the human body when a person spends so much time sitting, driving or in bed. I walk more than I drive. And when people find that they have more leisure time, they should devote some of it to increased exercise."

Translation—Americans are flabby.

Sleeping Bag Advice For Campers; Good Reports On Striper Trolling

STEVENS

The darnedest querries come in the mail or over the telephone to an outdoor writer. Some are mighty hard to answer, others easy, but a dedicated O. W. does his best to answer them all. For example, a letter from a prospective camper asks: "What sort of sleeping bag do you recommend—what type of filler?"

This is one of the easy ones, and I'm glad it was asked. A sleeping bag is a wonderful adjunct to camping gear, especially with an air mattress. But, while any filler is okay in dry weather, some are not so hot if they happen to get wet. For instance, any bag with water-absorbent material such as cotton or kapok may take days to dry out and in the process may become lumpy. Bags with acetate filler sag with moisture and may never regain the original loft after drying.

One material that keeps its resilience wet or dry is "Dacron" polyester fiber-fill. No amount of wetting will cause a major delay in drying out such a bedroll. Also, it is one bag that can be laundered in your home laundry at the end of the season.

OKAY, THAT'S enough on the subject of sleeping bag filler. It may help. Nothing unusual about sudden rainstorms in the high country spots. Which reminds me — anyone making a pack trip to the mountains should have along a good poncho, one that will fall below your knees. Wear a hat with a brim all around, not one with only a sun-brim in front.

Now for the dope on fishing.

GOOD REPORTS of trolling for stripers at Alcatraz and in Racoon Strait. Boat, R.S.P. had six limits to 11 pounds Tuesday at Alcatraz; the Troller tried evening trolling and netted 7 limits to 12 pounds in Racoon.

DON'S BAIT House at Clearlake Highlands reported perfect score for the catfish fishermen as well as the crappie cravers. Black bass a bit on the spotty side. (Night fishing for cats has been best.)

TERRY HALL told me Lake Berryessa was producing some fair to good black bassing, and that bass fishing at Hennessy Lake was best of year.

SALMON TROLLING remains only fair with hardly a fish per rod. On Tuesday, along with rather slopper water, both Pedro Point and the Islands failed to yield better than a fish to a fish-and-a-half average. The Sea Horse took 9 salmon to 12 pounds at the Farallones, and the Wilma H only had 6, also to 12 pounds, from the Pedro Point sector.

THE BEACHES have been lined with surf casters, but the vast majority have gone home sans salmon. Very erratic fishing. One section may have a blank day while another comes up with a fair catch. The following day the reverse may be true. You've just gotta be there when the schools happen by.

Sharman To Coach For L.A. State

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Bill Sharman, a star for 10 years with the Boston Celtics of the National Basketball Association and later a pro basketball coach, is the new head coach at Los Angeles State College.

Sharman, 36, replaces Sax Elliot, who now will devote full time to the school's department of health and safety education, the college announced Wednesday.

Archers Open Cal Deer Season Tomorrow

SACRAMENTO (AP)—Arrows will fly tomorrow to signal the start of the 1962 deer hunting season in California—and the nation.

The early or coastal season opens for riflemen on Aug. 4, but a special 10-day archery season gets under way an hour before sunrise tomorrow.

The early California season is the first hunt of the year in the United States.

The spectacle of thousands of Californians hunting in the dry woods and 100-degree heat of August has long baffled deer hunters from other regions, where deer season is later and hunting is done in the cold and snow of fall and winter.

"Hunters throughout the remainder of North America are amazed at California's desire to hunt deer in August," said a consulting firm that studied the Department of Fish and Game operations three years ago.

But a tradition of early hunting—and a strong belief iof many hunters that venison is better before the fall mating season—have kept the early season on the books.

The quality of hunting this year will depend as usual on the weather, but hunters will be hunting deer herds thinned by three years of drought—and scattered by the return of better conditions this year.

Only in the moist north coastal area is the early forecast for hunting as good as last year's.

Some 415,000 hunters bagged 73,680 deer in California last year—a hunter success ratio of 17.7 per cent. A total of 69,118 were bucks, and 25,299 were bagged in the early season.

For riflemen, the early season will run Aug. 4 through Sept. 23. The late or inland season opens Sept. 22 and continues through Nov. 4, except in five northeastern counties, where it ends Oct. 21.

Hunters should check the 1962 regulations for complete areas and season.

Prospects for the Sierra season, especially on the eastern slopes, aren't too bright. The number of two-year-old bucks, which usually make up a major portion of the kill, is low because of poor fawn survival during the drought.

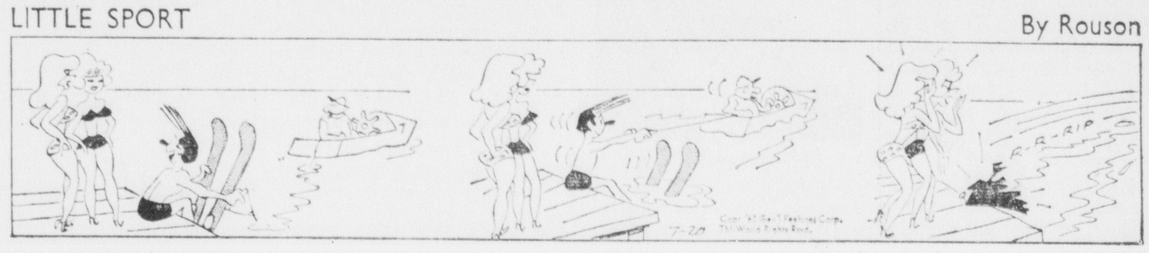

The record books indicate that the coastal season, despite these handicaps and the fact that much of the land involved is private, will produce about 22,500 deer.

Repeated warnings by the Fish and Game Department and the U. S. Forest Service notwithstanding, it probably will also produce some accidents, arrests and forest fires.

There were 26 deer hunting accidents last year, seven fatal.

More than 700 hunters were arrested for deer violations, and a good number of deer hunters were among the 341 cited for hunting without a license and the 1,226 who were arrested for having a loaded gun in a vehicle.

Fairfax Husband Will Live

Jerald A. Bredahl, 30, Fairfax service station operator who was hit in the head by a police bullet Tuesday night, will survive.

A spokesman at Marin General Hospital where Bredahl underwent four hours of brain surgery after the shooting, said today that he is in satisfactory condition and has regained consciousness.

For two days he had been in poor condition and only semi-conscious. It was not certain that he would live.

Bredahl was hit near his left ear by one of nine bullets fired by Sgt. Charles A. Grasso and Patrolman Lee Perry at the tires of the car he had reportedly used in an attempt to run down his wife. The shooting occurred after Bredahl drove the car into Grasso and Perry's patrol car. He reportedly tried to run over the officers when they got out of their car.

It was not known which officer fired the shot that hit Bredahl. Police Chief James Orr said it is possible that the bullet was a ricochet.

Mrs. Diane Bredahl called police at about 9 p.m. Tuesday seeking help in enforcing a temporary restraining order calling for her husband to vavate the home at 21 Park Road. The order was issued by the Marin County Superior Court Monday.

HEADS SCHOOL — Robert de Fremery of 203 Bolinas Avenue, Ross, was elected president of the northern California extension of the Henry George School of Social Science in San Francisco Tuesday. The school is a non-profit organization conducting classes at the College of Marin and other schools throughout the country.

San Rafael Sewer Plant Low Bid Told

The apparent low bid, opened last night, on expansion of existing facilities of the San Rafael Sanitation District sewer plant was $39,500 under the consulting engineer's estimate.

The low bid of the C. Norman Peterson Construction Co. of Berkeley was $395,436. The board's consulting engineer, Harry Jenks of Palo AHto, had estimated $435,000 for expansion of domestic treatment facilities at the Francisco Boulevard plant.

The board took the five bids submitted under advisement and is scheduled to award the contract at an Aug. 16 meeting.

Other bids were from the North Bay Construction Co. of Santa Rosa, $409,450; Baldwin, Erickson and Tate of San Francisco, $469,700; Fred J. Early of San Francisco, $476,650, and Brady Constructors of San Francisco, $488,621.

School Goals Unit Assured In Novato

Supt. James Bunker of the Novato Unified School District, last night assured the citizen school goals committee that all its recommendations will be seriously considered by the school administrators.

Bunker met with the committee without trustees of the district being present. He said he got the feeling that the committee wanted assurance that its report would not be "filed" as a previous report had been.

Some of the most important recommendations of the committee will be taken first, Bunker said.

"We will strengthen the reading program as rapidly as possible," he assured the committee. Toward that end he held a meeting yesterday with Paul Mobley, the new curriculum director, and a delegation of elementary school teachers. They will work out ways of improving the reading program before the start of the school year in September, Bunker said.

Other recommendations which the committee felt needed immediate attention include the teaching of spelling, the method of grading, excusing athletes from physical education classes, and the report cards at Hill Intermediate School.

The schools will put more effort on spelling, Bunker told the committee. However, he said he did not know anything abouth the grading system, so could not comment on it.

"I will get together immediately with Robert McKeay (high school principal) to work out the problem of athletes and physical education," Bunker said. He said he will also meet with Robert Patterson, Hill School principal, to find out about the complaint on the Hill School report cards.

He told the committee that was at a slight disadvantage because he was new to the district, compared to the committee which studied the school system for six months before submitting its report.

"I will certainly recommend to the board that they adopt the committee's report," he said.

He said he wanted to meet with the committee again in November and in the spring.

Public Works Head Honored Upon Departure

Praise was heaped on Marvin W. Brigham by four speakers last night at a testimonial dinner honoring him just before his departure from the county public works directorship.

Three of the speakers were official and scheduled. The fourth—Frank Guibbini, road construction foreman from the Point Reyes area—"just got on his feet and spoke from the heart" as Brigham put it later.

County Supervisor Chairman Walter R. Castro, Supervisor William D. Fusselman, and Assessor Bert W. Broemmel in Brigham's county service turn recalled incidents of stretching over more than a decade, with nine and one-half years as public works head.

A pair of matched "made-in-Marin" suitcases was presented to Brigham by his associates. Nearly 200 attended the dinner at the new Tomahawk Lodge near Novato.

THE NEW TREATMENT of fabrics in the interior design of the bedroom as illustrated in this photograph where a floral print forms not only an effective wall but also fronts the wardrobe will keynote the opening fall series of Designer's Showcase. Initiated last fall by Marinites Mrs. Ervin Vickers and Lorette Larson, the the popular show presented for fund-raising organizations, is staged to help the homeowner keep abreast of current trends in interior decoration.

THE RETURN of the jalousie in window decoration proves effective alongside the antique Grandfather's clock. Stage settings of Designer's Showcase will depict ways to use the rare antique tapestry designs; original selection of toiles; provincial prints and historic collection of Napoleonic prints.

New Fall Treatment Of Fabrics

The new treatment of fabrics in interior design will be the first program among the forthcoming fall series of Designer's Showcase, which marks its first anniversary in November.

Initiated by Marinites Mrs. Ervin Vickers and Lorette Larson, and presented as a series once a month from November through May, the professional decoration guidance program has found success in Marin and throughout the Bay Area.

BASED ON THE belief that the homeowner wants expert guidance in decorating her home, that she seeks to keep abreast with new trends, materials, fabrics and furniture as well as floor covering ideas, the Showcase has planned new themes and treatments for fall 1962 that are bound to meet the fund raising needs of Marin organizations who sponsor the Showcase presentations.

Promised as an opening show of special elegance is the preview of the Musee Collection of designs and fabrics. Stage settings will depict ways to use the rare antique tapestry designs; the original selection of toiles; provincial prints and the historic collection of Napoleonic prints as well as a profusion of new floral designs.

ALL DESIGNS from this outstanding collection represent a first time reproduction in modern miracle fabrics of the prints, textiles and tapestries preserved in the Musee de l' Impression sur Etoffes in the French town of Mulhouse.

HOLIDAY LIVING ideas that will feature ways to brighten the home for the seasons of Thanksgiving and Christmas will be presented in November. Sponsors for this event are the members of the Sausalito Woman's Club. Sharing co-chairmen duties are Mrs. M. R. Zumwalt and Mrs. Earl G. Thompson. Mrs. Stanley Cowen is president.

Always in demand are programs developed around antiques, which will be presented in many ways; "The Forgotten Treasures of America's Past; Western Country Living; Enduring Furniture Designs by American Designers." Tentative plans include an art show featuring Gemmau, the French art of design in glass.

SHOWCASE BOOKINGS are now being filled for the coming season which runs from October through May. Marin organizations may write to 29 Oak Springs Drive, San Anselmo, for further information.

Richer Look In Home Seen

"Country furniture, Spanish, Portuguese and Italian, have had it. The pendulum will swing to a richer look in the home," predicts Mrs. Jablow, one of the country's few women furniture designers.

When Mrs. Jablow saw polished stainless steel in a fabricating plant she was struck by its look of jewelry.

"It reminded me of platinum," she says. "And suddenly it struck me that its look of jewelry should be played up. Why not combine it with elegant fabrics and down cushions that would emphasize a luxury appearance that lay hidden behind the metal? At the same time the furniture would have tensile strength and a quality of timelessness."

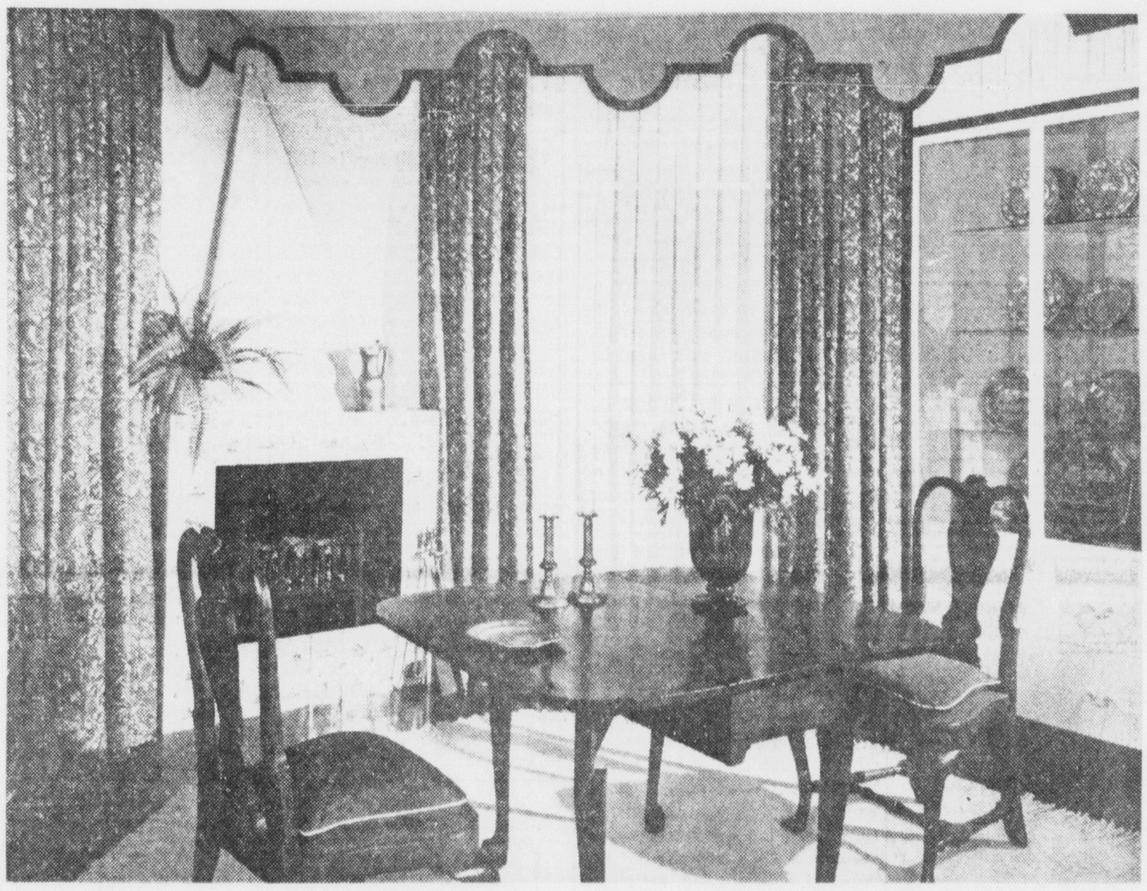

Stainless steel has long been used for business furnishings, she points out, but not much of it had found its way into residential use.

She designed 10 pieces of furniture, and had a fabricator process, cut, weld and polish the metal. It then went to her upholstery and cabinet shops for further work.

Pilot furnishings include a chaise lounge with an adaptation of a Directoire leg, 18th Century style French chandeliers with smoky gray crystal drops, one of chains and circles, another of flowing curves.

Two television swivel chairs have round stainless steel bases, large and small chests of laquered woods are set in stainless steel frames, tables have glass tops for lightness, a large oblong mirror is set in stainless steel.

"Steel was used in Napoleon's armorial furniture, though the armorers who made it had to bend the rods to shape it.

THIS UNIQUE DINING room is accented by its use of draperies which have as a feature outlined cornices. The print in the drapes corresponds to the period furniture. Other Showcase programs will be planned around ways to brighten the home for the holiday seasons of Thanksgiving and Christmas.

FABRIC USE as a wallpaper is shown in this sequence where it also forms the print for the bedspread. Other Showcase programs will also feature an art show of Gemmaux, the French art of design in glass.

Paris May Drop Hemlines

By ALINE MOSBY

PARIS (UPI)—The news leaked out from Paris today that hemlines are going to take a slight dip this fall.

Not more than an inch, but it's still electrifying to women the world over who've just shortened their skirts for the umpteenth time.

The bombshell that Paris designers will have hemlines a discreet inch below the knee is the first advance news out of the Paris fall fashion shows, which open Monday for two weeks.

THE FASHION world—mostly on the Avenue Montaigue or near the "Rond Pointe" on the famous Champs Elysee — is working long hours into the night to get ready for the biggest show in town.

Willowy models arrive at the designers' salons, their makeup in oversize hat boxes. Inside, one model hurries by, her gown—a secret until opening day—covered with a white cloth. Slender young men in white coats, looking like doctors, rush down hallways carrying bolts of tweeds and silks. Secretaries address invitations for reporters and buyers gathering from all over the world.

Observers of the world scene may judge all this near-hysteria as a tempest over a hemline. But there's no denying that Paris is the world fashion center, and what designers create here is eyed by both stores and women around the globe.

The designers' policy is to steadfastly deny everything, but intensive detective work turned up some advance glimpses:

SKIRTS: Up to an inch below the knee at Dior, Esterel, Larouche. Covering the knee at Balmain, Lanvin, Ricci. Otherwise, no startling changes. Women are not ready for another fashion revolution like the sack dress, yet.

Bust: Small.

Sixteen Year Old Betty's Life Shows Danger Of Rough Crowd

Betty is a bad girl. Last April she had a baby out of wedlock. Now she gets drunk and misbehaves. She was expelled from school. Her parents were frantic. Yes, Betty is a bad girl now. She is just 16.

A year ago Betty was a good girl. She necked a bit, but she didn't go too far. She would not drink. She behaved herself at parties. I've known Betty since she was small. What has happened to her is heartbreaking.

Last summer Betty loafed around with the wrong crowd. Her parents did not send her to summer school. She looked for work, but couldn't find it. Betty's mother had a job and was away all day. No one supervised Betty. She developed a crush on a delinquent boy of 18. The boy introduced her to his gang. She spent long summer days loafing with them beside the ocean. She listened to many dirty stories. In the beginning she was embarrassed. Then she began to enjoy them. She took her first drink of beer. Then wine. Then rum. Then anything alcoholic.

The gang had parties and Betty went to them. Soon she was slipping into bedrooms with her boy friend, the way other girls did. Betty's parents had no idea what was happening. They didn't wake up until it was too late.

In November the boy deserted Betty. No one knows where he is now. After its birth, the baby was placed for adoption. Betty tried to make another start in school, but she did not succeed. A teacher criticized her and Betty's temper flared. She called her teacher some choice names and was expelled.

Why do I tell you about Betty? To warn you. Even good girls can be misled. Are your girls running with a rough crowd this summer? Are they idle? Do they go to unchaperoned parties? Better check up right now. Remember Betty, and beware.

Marin
MAGAZINE

Bright reading
for the whole week

Featured this Saturday:

Harry N. Johnston of Santa Venetia is a man who believes that Marin should capitalize to the fullest upon its boating and other recreational advantages. Furthermore, he's a man who is willing to work hard to do something about it. He's also a man who has taken a leading role in a number of other projects aiming for a bigger and better Marin. Independent-Journal reporter Alton Bock has written a "profile" of Johnston for tomorrow's Marin Magazine.

Marin County's best known landmark? There's no argument as to the answer. It's Mount Tamalpais. Not only is Mount Tamalpais a familiar and beloved landmark to Marinites and visitors to the county, but it is also a rich source of recreation. In its "See Marvelous Marin" series the Marin Magazine tomorrow will tell you all about Mount Tamalpais State Park—about the wildlife that abounds there, the fine riding and hiking trails, the camping facilities, etc.

The thrill of a lifetime. That is what a faster-than-sound flight in a Hamilton Air Force Base F101 Voodoo fighter plane meant to I-J reporter Theron Newell. He begins a two-part story of that experience in tomorrow's magazine, telling you about the painstaking preparations and tests which the Air Force required before it allowed him to undertake the flight. By reading it you will learn much about the men and aircraft that guard our skies against possible enemy attack.

Marin's own magazine . . . picturing and reporting life in Marin today . . . personalities, recreation, coming events, book reviews, gardening, music, home improvement, weekly TV log. A week of good reading. Look for it, Saturdays.

Also invited by Mrs. Schorer are Mr. and Mrs. Francis Hughes and Gilmore Zeuner of San Francisco; Mr. and Mrs. Robert Mize and Leslie Mize of Mill Valley; Rev. Richard Beaumont of the Church of the Redeemer in Glenwood, and his wife; Mr. and Mrs. James Fletcher of San Rafael and Mr. and Mrs. Wilfred De Cook of San Anselmo.

LONGTIME FRIENDS of Mr. and Mrs. Frank B. Williams of Sausalito, Mr. and Mrs. Russell P. Brewer of Kennett Square, Pa., not far from Wilmington, Del., were their guests all day Wednesday. The Brewers are the parents of Mrs. Alan B. Shepard Jr., whose husband is the astronaut. The Brewers and the Shepard family have been friends of Margaret and Frank Williams ever since the Williams' son, Robert Williams and Alan Shepard were classmates at the United States Naval Academy at Annapolis. Bob is now retired from the Navy and is in the insurance business in Menlo Park.

With the Brewers were their two grandsons, Phil and Bob Williams (no relation to the hosts). They are making an automobile tour of the United States, seeing all the national parks and went to the World's Fair in Seattle. They stopped to see Frank and Margaret en route from the north and are going to Yosemite National Park.

A TWO-YEAR-OLD stole the show at Wednesday's luncheon and fashion show at Marin Art and Garden Center in Ross. The luncheon and fashion show were co-sponsored by the Northgate Group at the Center, of which Mrs. LeRoy Page of Ross is president, and Marin Unit of the Junior League. The show stopper, although she never appeared on the runway, was Mrs. Page's granddaughter, Patricia Page, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Philip Page. Phil, who is with the United States Information Service, his wife and daughter, are visiting his parents. Aug. 4 Phil and his family will fly back to Taiwan. They will live in Taichung for a year while Phil studies the Chinese languages. Before Phil was sent to Taiwan he and his wife and baby lived in Rangoon, Burma.

There was much talk of travel at the Junior Leaguers' table at which I was seated. Mrs. Laurence (Jean) Symmes of Mill Valley told about the trip she and her husband made to the World's Fair in Seattle and visit in Victoria, B.C. As Jean is a former Londoner she was delighted with the British atmosphere of Victoria. It was while Larry and Jean were there they met the Donald Westerbekes of Mill Valley. The Westerbekes with the William Peaveys of Mill Valley and the Harold Pischels of San Francisco chartered a boat to cruise with their children around the San Juan Islands.

Mrs. William Hendrickson, chairman of Marin Unit, said she was planning to go to the World's Fair. Virginia Rounds of Kentfield, and Mrs. Malcolm Skall of Kent Woodlands talked of Italy. Virginia has an aunt living there and Mrs. Skall lived in a villa in Florence. They discussed the difficulty of rearing babies in other countries and Mrs. Skall, whose son is a year old, explained that lack of refrigeration makes milk and certain other foods dangerous for children and adults.

Mrs. Walter G. Busse Jr. of San Anselmo told of the pack trip she and her husband are taking with their three children. They're going to pack out of Yosemite. With the Busses will be her brother-in-law and sister, Dr. and Mrs. Donald Barbour of Kentfield and two of their children. The Barbours' son, Steve, is spending the summer with his parents, friends, Dr. and Mrs. Rudy Schmidt of Boston. They're going to Martha's Vineyard, Nova Scotia and the Adirondacks.

BUSY MOVING have been the Harvie M. Freeds who have a new address in Greenbrae. They have moved from Almenar Drive to Bretano Way.

CLUB PLANS DESSERT, CARD PARTY

"Tricks and a treat" are promised for guests attending the St. Sebastian's Women's Club dessert and card party to be held at 1 p.m. Wednesday at the parish hall, 373 Bon Air Road, Kentfield.

Chairman Mrs. L. H. Perrier and her co-chairman, Mrs. J. H. Smith Jr. have planned this event to raise funds for the refreshment committee for the 1962-63 term of the women's club.

Mrs. Edward R. Johansen, 475 Vista Grande, Greenbrae, is reservations chairman.

Shorts Story For Coeds

STILLWATER, Okla., (AP) — Short-short skirts and short shorts don't go on campus, an Oklahoma State University fashion expert warns high school girls headed for college this fall.

The short skirts just don't fit with classrooms, says Dr. Juanita Noel, head of Oklahoma State's department of clothing, textiles and merchandising. And on campus, Bermuda shorts or slim pants are the style, never short shorts.

"It's best to plan a good, basic wardrobe," Dr. Noel advises, "and then add to it after you've gotten into the swim of college life."

She recommends concentrating on mix and match separates to get more mileage from fewer items. Wash and wear fabrics are a help to busy schedules, she notes, and clothes should be bought with an eye to good quility and proper fit.

Canvas top sport shoes—tennies in campus slang—or loafers should garb the classroom feet, she says. But the strictest fashion rule for the well-dressed coed, she warns, is white socks.

Scientists Probe Appetites In Rats

By DELOS SMITH

NEW YORK (UPI)—The scientific business of locating whatever it is which regulates appetite is getting even more complicated. This is bad news for all the overweight people who hope science will find a simple way of thinning them which doesn't involve dieting.

This hope is based on the assumption that the regulation of appetite is purely physical and overweight is due to some disruption of these automatic regulators.

If that is true in regard to people and if you knew what the regulators were, you could doctor them into working properly and people wouldn't overeat and become fat.

The complicating news is dramatic proof that such automatic regulators do exist and work beautifully—in laboratory rats. Unhappily, whatever the regulators are, they're anything but simple and easy to get at. Besides there is the implication that people disrupt their own regulators by giving more emotional than nutritional value to eating.

The scientific approach of the biochemist, Dr. Clarence Cohn, and his technical associate, Dorothy Joseph, was promising because it seemed to eliminate complications. One such complication is the presumed effect heredity may have on appetite control. Another is the possibility that overweight creatures have a small defect in brain function.

Dr. Cohn and Miss Joseph arbitrarily took appetite control away from rats. They did it by force-feeding them twice a day for three months. All the animals got the same volume of food so their stomachs would be distended identically after meals. But one group got twice the calories the other group got.

After three months of this, the rats which got the most calories weighed approximately two times more than the rats which got the fewest. The first group of animals was definitely fat; the second group was lean in the way a rat should be.

Appetite control was then restored to the rats by the simple means of letting them eat as much as they wished whenever they wished. Food was kept constantly available and they were on their own, nutritionally speaking.

The lean rats began eating at once. But they didn't overdo it and remained lean.

If you based an expectation on experience with people, you would have expected the fat rats to start eating as quickly but to eat more than the lean rats.

They didn't eat more. What happened was that they didn't eat at all for days. When they finally began eating their body weights approximated that of the lean rats. This was proof that a natural appetite control of purely physical nature was at work.

Offhand it seemed to confirm a theory that this control begins with body fat—the more fat stored in or participating in body chemistry, the smaller the appetite. But when dissected the once fat rats still had much more body fat than the always lean ones. In their last days the two groups had equaled one another in appetite.

Another theory is that body temperature plays a part in appetite regulation—the lower the temperature the bigger the appetite. The scientists experimented with rats in a cold environment and in a warm environment and detected no differences.

A third theory is that the level of glucose in the blood keys appetite regulation. This one the scientists couldn't confirm either, they said, in reporting their work at Michael Reese Medical Research Institute, Chicago, to the Yale Journal of Biology and Medicine.

Declaration Kin Dies

BOSTON (UPI) — Mrs. Francis H. Foster, 67, a direct descendant of Declaration of Independence signer Rodger Sherman, died yesterday at Massachusetts General Hospital.

Forgery Suspect Is Found Guilty

Sergie Gregoriev, a former resident of Novato, was found guilty in a San Mateo Superior Court Wednesday of forgery, filing false documents and conspiracy in a $19,680 land deal that implicated a wealthy Hillsborough land owner.

Gregoriev, who lived on Vinyard Road in Novato at the time of his arrest over a year ago, was found guilty by Judge Ross A. Carkeet of Tulomne County.

In his ruling, the judge said that Thomas J. Callan Jr., who stood trial with Gregoriev, was innocent.

Gregoriev admitted that he got relatives to sign fictitious names to deeds conveying tax-delinquent properties to him, but he maintained that he had not done it to defraud anyone. He also said that Callan, son of a former San Mateo County supervisor, had notarized his deeds out of friendship and had no interest in the property.

Glenwood Unit Discusses Park

Glenwood Homeowners Assn. members Wednesday night discussed plans for the proposed Victor W. Jones Memorial Park, including a possible assessment district to develop the park.

Edwin N. Ness, Belvedere attorney, outlined procedures for establishing an assessment district. Residents also discussed plans for the park with San Rafael Parks and Recreation Commission members.

A six-acre site for the park at Robinhood and Maplewood drives is owned by the city. Tentative improvements include nature trails, children's playground and restrooms.

The association took no action last night and will continue to work with the city on plans for financing development of the park.

Reports at the meeting revealed that the carpenters union stands alone in not having ratified a new contract.

MARIN FILM FARE

'Advise And Consent' Opens Sunday

By LES DARD

RAFAEL THEATER

"Advise and Consent," which opens Sunday, takes the novel by Allen Drury and brings it to life with all the force of history being made before your eyes. Into the characters of its big—and big name—cast are transfigured identities of many familiar personalities of our nation's capital.

Franchot Tone portrays a dictatorial, dying president; Walter Pidgeon a knowing, sophisticated Senate majority leader; Charles Laughton a string-tied, flamboyant Southern senator; Henry Fonda a rising statesman who leaned to communism in an erring moment of his youth; Don Murray an able, idealistic young senator whose one mis-step rises to haunt him.

The title springs from the Senate's power to "advise and consent" on cabinet appointments. Specifically here is told the story of a Senate investigation of the president's nominee for secretary of state, and the pressures and prejudice brought to bear upon it.

Others in important roles are Gene Tierney, happily returning to films as Washington's leading hostess; Burgess Meredith, Peter Lawford, Lew Ayres and George Grizzard.

FAIRFAX THEATER

Blonde Lola Albright stars as a burlesque queen idling away her summer in New York who is suddenly, inexplicably infatuated with the son of her apartment manager, Scott Marlowe.

"Cold Wind" is not nice—strictly for grown-ups—but it packs an artistic wallop seldom equalled.

NOVATO SCREEN

Pat Boone, Bobby Darin, Pamela Tiffin, Tom Ewell, Alice Faye, Wally Cox and a new beauty named Ann-Margaret star in the third filmed version of "State Fair," coming Sunday.

Like that of 1945, it's a musical rendition, with fine Rodgers and Hammerstein tunes like "It Might As Well Be Spring," "It's a Grand Night for Singing" and at least five new songs.

Tom Ewell plays the farm father whose family finds new life and new loves at the state fair. The locale has been moved this time from Iowa to Texas, and the theme naturally takes on some tall Texas flavor. We found this pleasant.

Good for the whole family.

SEQUOIA THEATER

Another fine family comedy comes to the Sequoia Sunday, "Mr. Hobbs Takes A Vacation."

Jimmy Stewart returns to a humorous role as a banker whose wife decides a quiet vacation alone wouldn't be nearly as much fun as a beach cottage with their two married children and their children. Maureen O'Hara, the most beautiful grandma to date, plays Jimmy's wife.

Turns out the beach house is barely habitable and numerout complications develop like the plumbing, the grandchildren, a Swedish cook who walks out and a beautiful beach bum who likes bankers.

TIBURON PLAYHOUSE

Two powerful films share the weekend bill:

"Splendor in the Grass" stars Natalie Wood and Warren Beatty in the anguished story of two young lovers torn apart by an adult world which fails to understand them.

"Dark at the Top of the Stairs" is a sometimes touching, sometimes amusing film translation of William Inge's Broadway hit. It concerns the basic marital unhappiness of Robert Preston and Dorothy McGuire, as heads of the Flood family, and its reflection in their children.

Both are for adults.

LARK THEATER

Peter Sellers plays a lowly librarian whose life is suddenly illuminated by a blonde in "Only Two Can Play," now showing.

Sellers plays a man frustrated by a busy, workaday wife, two busier children and a tiny apartment. When Mai Zetterling—the blonde—comes along, Sellers is suddenly transformed.

TAMALPAIS THEATER

Hatari is the Swahili word for danger. The film tells the truly dangerous day-to-day life of men in Tanganyika who hunt animals for zoos.

MOTOR MOVIES

The birth pangs of a new nation, the battle against intolerance, the anguished love of a Jewish fighter and an American nurse—all are told in the monumental screen epic, "Exodus," which arrives Sunday.

With 10 names players, 45,000 extras, full color and wide, wide screen, the drama of Leon Uris' best selling novel comes to life in a powerful screenplay by Dalton Trumbo expertly produced by Otto Preminger.

Staring are Paul Newman, Eva Marie Saint, Sal Mineo, Lee J. Cobb, Peter Lawford, Gregory Ratoff and John Derek.

OPPOSED—Charles Laughton and Walter Pidgeon play U.S. senators who oppose each other over a presidential appointment in "Advise and Consent," coming Sunday to the Rafael screen.

Snow White Story With Eight Dwarfs

MEMPHIS, Tenn (UPI) — The Memphis Children's Theater will present the story of Snow White and the eight dwarfs.

A spokesman explained the casting committee selected one dwarf too many and expanded the cast to include "the Sleepy twins" rather than hurt a youngster's feelings.

500 Rabies Victims For Science Sake

JACKSONVILLE, FLA., (UPI) —Rabies, the ancient and dread disease which causes madness and death, claimed another 500 victims here this week—but all for the sake of science.

The deceased were mice, deliberately injected with the killer virus by biologists of the state board of health.

"These mice die to help us find new and more effective vaccines against rabies," said Dr. Bill Jennings, a biologist here.

"Rabies is one of the oldest diseases known to man, yet, while we know a lot about the virus, we still don't know where it comes from," Jennings said. "We have learned that rabies as a disease cannot be eradicated with our present knowledge."

Until a few years ago it was generally accepted that dogs were the prime source of the rabies virus. Then in 1953, a Tampa child was bitten by a bat and fell sick.

Tests showed that bat to be heavily infected with the rabies virus. The child was given anti-rabies shots and recovered.

Obscure though it was, the incident sparked an entirely new line of research into the rabies virus, most of it directed by Dr. James Scatterday of Jacksonville, head of the board of health's department of veterinary public health until his death last week.

Dr. Scatterday and his scientists studied every bat they could lay their hands on.

Mice were injected with tissue taken from some of the bats which appeared to be rabid, and one by one they died.

Five years ago, as a result of the research, the veterinarians proposed a remarkable theory: That the biggest hidden carrier of the rabies virus was not the dog but the nocturnal bat.

This proposal was entirely new and initiated research which has mushroomed annually, not only in Florida but across the world.

Scatterday's report also said there might be other animals "serving as an alternative reservoir of this infection . . ." And current studies at the department's Jacksonville laboratories are pointing the finger of suspicion at a favorite American animal, the raccoon.

"Our tests show that, like the bat, about 2 percent of raccoons are rabid," Jennings said. "But they cannot be considered so potentially dangerous as the bat because—across the world—they are fewer in number, less mobile and more conspicuous."

Why does Florida spend about $40,000 annually on further study?

"For reasons both economic and humane," says Jennings. "We hope to find a quicker, safer and less painful vaccine. If we learn to eradicate rabies we can save millions of dollars in vaccination and treatment of farm animals. We could even do away with dog-catchers."

But the most important reason is . . . "If we know what we're fighting, we can prevent epidemics," he said.

Running Into A Door Isn't Funny Anymore

As many as 40,000 Americans may be injured that way each year, the National Safety Council reported today.

The problem of people of all ages walking through glass doors they thought were open has become so common that the Architectural Aluminum Manufacturers Assn. asked the safety council to find a solution.

The safety council enlisted the U.S. Public Health Servcie, the Florida State Health Department and the Dade County Health Department for a survey of glass door accidents in the Miami area.

Phil Dykstra, manager of home safety for the council, said the survey showed that in a one-year period Dade County had 130 such accidents. Twenty one persons were injured, ranging from scratches to deep cuts.

The safety council said one projection of the figures indicated that nationally the annual injury toll from glass door accidents may be 40,000.

However, Dykstra said he feels more data is needed to obtain a true national estimate.

As a result, the safety council has decided to extend its survey to other areas of the nation.

From the results of the surveys, the safety council hopes to draft a model building code so that communities may avoid the hazard.

"Preliminary findings indicate that some form of safety glazing appears to be the answer," Dykstra said.

It might involve use of tempered glass, laminated glass or plastic panels in place of the plate glass now used, he said.

Indoor Sports Club Meeting On Sunday

The quarterly meeting of the fourth district board of Indoor Sports Club, Inc., a club for the physically disabled, will be held Sunday at 10 a.m. in the Crippled Children and Adults Building, 629 Mission Avenue, San Rafael.

San Rafael Chapter of the Indoor Sports Club, Inc., will be host to representatives from clubs throughout Northern California.

Young Lawbreaker Due Clean Slates

Marin County juveniles who have crossed the path of the law on the wrong side no longer have to worry about their past crimes haunting them in later life.

An opinion of Atty. Gen. Stanley Mosk released today states that juvenile delinquency records "sealed" cannot be reopened by an investigating agency unless the person under investigation requests it.

A "sealed" record belongs to a juvenile lawbreaker who has been given a clean slate. The sealed records are kept only for reopening if requested by the person they concern.

Folk Dancing Classes Set

Folk dancing classes sponsored by the Marin Dance Council and San Rafael Recreation Department will be held during the next two weeks.

Beginning classes will be held in the San Rafael High School gymnasium at 8 p.m. Monday and July 30. An advanced folk dance workshop will be held in the Redwood High School gymnasium at 8 p.m. Tuesday and July 31.

On Wednesday classes will be held by Marin Whirl-Aways in Carpenters' Hall, San Rafael, at 8 p.m. and by Novato Folk Dancers in the Marion Street School, Novato, at 8 p.m. Both classes will be repeated Aug. 1.

'McInnis Speaking' With Cities Aide

Richard (Bud) Carpenter, executive director and legal counsel for the League of California Cities, will be the guest of San Rafael's Mayor John McInnis at 12:15 p.m. Sunday over Radio KTIM on "McInnis Speaking."

Carpenter will explain the reasons for the league, started in 1898 by James Phelan. Its basic function today, Carpenter says, is to study and work for or against state legislation which has an effect on municipalities.

Bazaar Day Saturday At Shop Center

The tremendous public reception of Corte Madera Shopping Center's Bazaar Day last year has led the center's merchants to another Bazaar Day for Saturday.

Long tables covered with bargains will line the center's central mall and a fiesta atmosphere will prevail.

The wide variety of goods and the vast price range make the event truly "something for everybody."

From the vast inventories of Montgomery Ward, Penney's, Woolworth's, Grant's, Smith's and Littleman's, to the smallest specialty shops and service shops, everywhere will be a shopper's paradise of bargains.

Buy leisure clothes, shoes to walk in, a boat to sail in, tires and service for your car, a first aid kit, a home swimming pool, enough groceries for the week, a toy for the baby and even borrow enough to bring it all with.

You can check your insurance coverage, buy a cake or if it looks like a long summer, even write your will.

Yes, it's a big day, Saturday at Corte Madera Shopping Center and the Center invites you to stop by.

Something New In Clothes —Caroline Kennedy Look

By JANET POPPIN

Casual afternoons will be occupied by box-pleated plain wool skirts of forest green, gold and navy blue topped by long wool pullovers.

Corduroy or wool coveralls with criss-crossed straps and shiny brass buttons are ideal for an afternoon of pony riding or fox hunting.

If you're the kind of person who likes to meet people then you're sure to fall in love with the long-sleeved shirt-dress that has all kinds of tiny pleats starting from just below the white organdy Peter Pan collar and running all the way down to the gathered waist-line. The sleeves are trimmed in white organdy, too!

Actually, all little girl-type clothes are being copied and worn extensively. Most of these kindergarten styles are strictly for sunny weather. Warm days will, no doubt, find the plain round neck, long bodice, gathered skirt, dress as well as the cool sheath, that three rows of bottom ruffles accentuate. The A-frame dress is becoming just as popular as the modern A-frame house. This dress may be worn with or without a belt.

Changing from a little girl into a young lady oftentimes presents problems. One such problem is the evening dress and proper coat. An evening dress is incomplete until the final touch is added, and that final touch is the coat. Warm summer weather calls for something that's not too heavy, yet something that will give a little warmth. Silk organza, organdy and dacron and cotton voile make up the skillfully designed wraps in such outstanding styles as the smock coat, the close-hewn Chesterfield, the man's dress-shirt coat, and the plain collarless coats with three-quarter sleeves.

Whether out on a date or lounging around the house, one trait of the "little girl look" is continually in the spotlight and that is the very latest hair style. More and more hair stylists are creating various coiffures with little girls in mind.

People Incorporate In 14 States Now

CHICAGO (AP) — Professional people in 14 states now can incorporate for pension and tax purposes, the Commerce Clearing House reports.

Upsetting a long-established tradition against any incorporation of licensed doctors, lawyers, accountants, dentists, engineers and others, state legislatures legally gave these people permission to incorporate so they could adopt pension plans which offer federal tax-deferment on sums set aside for retirement.

Sponsored by Littleman Market, tables for the Pancake Breakfast will be set up under the arcade and in the parking lot in front of Littleman's.

The breakfast will feature Aunt Jemima pancakes, Galileo ham, Birdseye orange juice, and Caswell's coffee, all for 50 cents.

Jolly Rogers waitresses, in addition to Mrs. Zierolf, will be Mrs. Noel McCarthy, chapter president, and Mrs. Joseph D'Andre, both of Northbridge; Mrs. Walter Derr Jr., and Mrs. E. C. Price of Marinwood; Mrs. R. L. Freeman Jr. of Fairfax; Mrs. Gordon Ness and Mrs. James Kean of San Rafael; Mrs. Denny Dehnert of Greenbrae.
